ABOUT THIS VERSION

This full PDF version of the Online English Grammar has a number of advantages over the version that you can find online for public viewing:

- It covers more grammar topics than the online version
- You can view it on your desktop as an easy reference guide
- It is easy to print out pages from this version using any standard printer
- You can access regular updates to the Online English Grammar now that you have purchased this copy. All that is required is that you supply your username and password to begin the download. You will receive regular emails when new updates are available. The update subscription is valid for one year from the date you purchased the item from us.

WHAT FLSE IS PLANNED?

After the outstanding response to our release of the Online English Grammar as a desktop edition, we are developing a range of new English language guides and worksheets to help both students and teachers with their English language requirements. These guides and worksheets will all be available as downloads from our website at http://www.English4Today.com and you will be notified of their release as we publish them. At the moment we have the following under development:

- English grammar worksheets for teachers and students
- A Writer's Guide to Using English
- Writing Letters
- A Guide to English Pronunciation
- Grammar Games Pack

We are also in the process of working on Version 2.0 of the PDF Version of the Online English Grammar - adding even more sections, sound files and exercises.

THE QUANTIFIERS

NUMBERS

The cardinal numbers (one, two, three, etc.) are adjectives referring to quantity, and the ordinal numbers (first, second, third, etc.) refer to distribution.

Number	Ordinal	Cardinal
1	one	first
2	two	second
3	three	third
4	four	fourth
5	five	fifth
6	six	sixth
7	seven	seventh
8	eight	eighth
9	nine	ninth
10	ten	tenth
11	eleven	eleventh
12	twelve	twelfth
13	thirteen	thirteenth
14	fourteen	fourteenth
15	fifteen	fifteenth
16	sixteen	sixteenth
17	seventeen	seventeenth
18	eighteen	eighteenth
19	nineteen	nineteenth
20	twenty	twentieth
21	twenty-one	twenty-first
22	twenty-two	twenty-second
23	twenty-three	twenty-third
24	twenty-four	twenty-fourth
25	twenty-five	twenty-fifth
26	twenty-six	twenty-sixth
27	twenty-seven	twenty-seventh
28	twenty-eight	twenty-eighth
29	twenty-nine	twenty-ninth
30	thirty	thirtieth
31	thirty-one	thirty-first
40	forty	fortieth

DETERMINERS

FUNCTION AND CLASSES OF DETERMINERS

Function

Determiners are words placed in front of a noun to make it clear what the noun refers to. The word 'people' by itself is a general reference to some group of human beings. If someone says 'these people', we know which group they are talking about, and if they say 'a lot of people' we know how big the group is.

Classes of Determiners

There are several classes of determiners:

Definite and Indefinite articles

the, a, an

Demonstratives

this, that, these, those

Possessives

my, your, his, her, its, our, their

Quantifiers

a few, a little, much, many, a lot of, most, some, any, enough, etc.

Numbers

one, ten, thirty, etc.

Distributives

all, both, half, either, neither, each, every

Difference words

other, another

Question words

Which, what, whose Defining words

which, whose

The following words are pre-determiners. They go before determiners, such as articles: such and what, half, rather, quite

next 🕞

THE, A, AN

Definite article: THE Indefinite article: A/AN

Exceptions to using the definite article

DEFINITE ARTICLE

THE

Articles in English are invariable. That is, they do not change according to the gender or number of the noun they refer to, e.g. the boy, the woman, the children

'The' is used:

1. to refer to something which has already been mentioned.

Example: An elephant and a mouse fell in love. The mouse loved the elephant's long trunk, and the elephant loved the mouse's tiny nose.

2. when both the speaker and listener know what is being talked about, even if it has not been mentioned before.

Example: 'Where's the bathroom?' 'It's on the first floor.'

3. in sentences or clauses where we define or identify a particular person or object:

Examples: The man who wrote this book is famous. 'Which car did you scratch?' 'The red one. My house is the one with a blue door.'

4. to refer to objects we regard as unique:

Examples: the sun, the moon, the world

5. before superlatives and ordinal numbers: (see Adjectives)

Examples: the highest building, the first page, the last chapter.

6. with adjectives, to refer to a whole group of people:

Examples: the Japanese (see Nouns - Nationalities), the old

7. with names of geographical areas and oceans:

Examples: the Caribbean, the Sahara, the Atlantic

8. with decades, or groups of years:

Example: she grew up in the seventies

ORDER

Where a number of adjectives are used together, the order depends on the function of the adjective. The usual order is:

Value/opinion, Size, Age/Temperature, Shape, Colour, Origin, Material

Value/opinion	delicious, lovely, charming
Size	small, huge, tiny
Age/Temperature	old, hot, young
Shape	round, square, rectangular
Colour	red, blonde, black
Origin	Swedish, Victorian, Chinese
Material	plastic, wooden, silver

Examples:

- a lovely old red post-box
- some small round plastic tables
- some charming small silver ornaments

FUNCTION

Adjectives tell us more about a noun. They can:

Describe feelings or qualities:

He is a lonely man They are honest people

Give nationality or origin:

Pierre is *French*This clock is *German*Our house is Victorian

Tell more about a thing's characteristics:

A wooden table. The knife is sharp.

Tell us about age:

He's a young man My coat is very old

Tell us about size and measurement:

John is a tall man. This is a very long film.

Tell us about colour:

Paul wore a red shirt. The sunset was crimson and gold.

Tell us about material/what something is made of:

It was a wooden table She wore a cotton dress

Tell us about shape:

A rectangular box A square envelope

Express a judgement or a value:

A fantastic film

Grammar is boring.

FORM

1. Adjectives are invariable:

They do not change their form depending on the gender or number of the noun.

A hot potato

Some hot potatoes

2. To emphasise or strengthen the meaning of an adjective use 'very' or 'really':

A very hot potato

Some really hot potatoes.

(BUT see also Modifiers/Adverbs)

- 3. Position of adjectives:
- a) Usually in front of a noun: A beautiful girl.
- b) After verbs like "to be", "to seem", "to look", "to taste":
 - The girl is beautiful
 - You look tired
 - This meat tastes funny.
- c) After the noun: in some fixed expressions:
 - The Princess Royal
 - The President elect
 - a court martial

the adjectives involved, present, concerned:

- 1. I want to see the people involved/concerned (= the people who have something to do with the matter)
- 2. Here is a list of the people present (= the people who were in the building or at the meeting)

Be careful! When these adjectives are used before the noun they have a different meaning:

- An involved discussion = detailed, complex
- A concerned father = worried, anxious
- The present situation = current, happening now

ADVERBS - FUNCTION

Adverbs modify, or tell us more about other words, usually verbs:

- The bus moved slowly.
- The bears ate greedily.

Sometimes they tell us more about adjectives:

• You look absolutely fabulous!

They can also modify other adverbs:

- She played the violin extremely well.
- You're speaking too quietly.

• Kinds of adverbs

The Full PDF Online English Grammar V1.1 © copyright - all rights reserved 1995-2001, Anthony Hughes

ADVERBS - FORM

1. In most cases, an adverb is formed by adding '-ly' to an adjective:

Adjective	Adverb
cheap quick slow	cheaply quickly slowly

Examples:

- Time goes quickly.
- He walked slowly to the door.
- She certainly had an interesting life.
- He carefully picked up the sleeping child.

If the adjective ends in '-y', replace the 'y' with 'i' and add '-ly':

Adjective	Adverb
easy	easily
angry	angrily
happy	happily
lucky	luckily

If the adjective ends in -'able', '-ible', or '-le', replace the '-e' with '-y':

Adjective	Adverb
probable	probably terrible	terribly
gentle	gently

If the adjective ends in '-ic', add '-ally':

Adjective	Adverb
basic economic tragic	basically economically tragically

Note: Exception: public - publicly

2. Some adverbs have the same form as the adjective:

Adjective / Adverb
early fast hard high	late near straight wrong

Compare:

- It is a fast car.
- He drives very fast.
- This is a hard exercise.
- He works hard.
- We saw many high buildings.
- The bird flew high in the sky.

3. 'Well' and 'good'

'Well' is the adverb that corresponds to the adjective 'good'.

Examples:

- He is a good student.
- He studies well.
- She is a good pianist.
- She plays the piano well.
- They are good swimmers.
- They swim well.

COMPARATIVE FORMS OF ADVERBS

In general, comparative and superlative forms of adverbs are the same as for adjectives:

• add -er or -est to short adverbs:

Adverb	Comparative	Superlative
hard	harder	the hardest
late	later	the latest
fast	faster	the fastest

Example:

- Jim works harder than his brother.
- Everyone in the race ran fast, but John ran the fastest of all.

with adverbs ending in -ly, use more for the comparative and most for the superlative:

Adverb	Comparative	Superlative
quietly	more quietly	most quietly
slowly	more slowly	most slowly
seriously	more seriously	most seriously

Example:

- The teacher spoke more slowly to help us to understand.
- Could you sing more quietly please?

Some adverbs have irregular comparative forms:

Adverb	Comparative	Superlative
badly	worse	worst
far	farther/further	farthest/furthest little	less	least
well	better	best

Example:

- The little boy ran further than his friends.
- You're driving worse today than yesterday!

BE CAREFUL! Sometimes 'most' can mean 'very':

• We were most grateful for your help

• 1 am most impressed by this application.

KINDS OF ADVERBS

There are several classes or 'kinds' of adverbs that we use for specific functions:

- 1. Adverbs of manner
- 2. Adverbs of place
- 3. Adverbs of time
- 4. Adverbs of certainty
- 5. Adverbs of degree
- 6. Interrogative adverbs
- 7. Relative adverbs
- 8. Viewpoint and commenting adverbs

The Full PDF Online English Grammar V1.1 © copyright - all rights reserved 1995-2001, Anthony Hughes

KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF MANNER

Adverbs of manner tell us how something happens. They are usually placed after the main verb or after the object.

Examples:

- He swims well, (after the main verb)
- He ran... rapidly, slowly, quickly..
- She spoke... softly, loudly, aggressively...
- James coughed loudly to attract her attention.
- He plays the flute beautifully. (after the object)
- . He ate the chocolate cake greedily.

BE CAREFUL! The adverb should not be put between the verb and the object:

- He ate greedily the chocolate cake [incorrect]
- He ate the chocolate cake greedily [correct]

If there is a preposition before the object, e.g. at, towards, we can place the adverb either before the preposition or after the object.

Example:

- The child ran happily towards his mother.
- The child ran towards his mother happily.

Sometimes an adverb of manner is placed before a verb + object to add emphasis:

• He gently woke the sleeping woman.

Some writers put an adverb of manner at the beginning of the sentence to catch our attention and make us curious:

• Slowly she picked up the knife.

(We want to know what happened slowly, who did it slowly, why they did it slowly)

However, adverbs should always come AFTER intransitive verbs (=verbs which have no object).

Example:

- The town grew quickly
- He waited patiently

Also, these common adverbs are almost always placed AFTER the verb:

- well
- badly
- hard
- fast

The position of the adverb is important when there is more than one verb in a sentence. If the adverb is placed after a clause, then it modifies the whole action described by the clause.

Notice the difference in meaning between the following pairs of sentences:

- She quickly agreed to re-type the letter (= her agreement was quick)
- She agreed to re-type the letter quickly (= the re-typing was quick)
- He quietly asked me to leave the house (= his request was quiet)
- He asked me to leave the house quietly (= the leaving was quiet)

KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF PLACE

Adverbs of place tell us where something happens. They are usually placed after the main verb or after the object:

Example:

after the main verb:

- I looked everywhere
- John looked away, up, down, around...
- I'm going home, out, back
- Come in

after the object:

- They built a house nearby
- She took the child outside

'Here' and 'there'

With verbs of movement, here means towards or with the speaker:

- Come here (= towards me)
- It's in here (= come with me to see it)

There means away from, or not with the speaker:

- Put it there (= away from me)
- It's in there (= go by yourself to see it)

Here and there are combined with prepositions to make many common adverbial phrases:

down here, down there;
over here, over there;
under here, under there;
up here, up there

Here and there are placed at the beginning of the sentence in exclamations or when emphasis is needed.

They are followed by the verb if the subject is a noun:

• Here comes the bus. (followed by the verb)

Or by a pronoun if this is the subject (it, she, he etc.):

- Here it is! (followed by the pronoun)
- There she goes! (followed by the pronoun)

NOTE: most common adverbs of place also function as prepositions.

Examples:

about, across, along, around, behind, by, down, in, off, on, over, round, through, under, up.

Go to Prepositions or Phrasal Verbs

Other adverbs of place: ending in '-wards', expressing movement in a particular direction:

backwards northwards forwards southwards downwards eastwards upwards westwards inwards homewards outwards onwards

Example:

- Cats don't usually walk backwards.
- The ship sailed westwards.

BE CAREFUL! 'Towards' is a preposition, not an adverb, so it is always followed by a noun or a pronoun:

- He walked towards the car.
- She ran towards me.

expressing both movement and location:

ahead, abroad, overseas, uphill, downhill, sideways, indoors, outdoors

Example:

- The child went indoors.
- He lived and worked abroad.

KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF TIME

Adverbs of time tell us when an action happened, but also for how long, and how often.

Examples:

- When: today, yesterday, later, now, last year
- For how long: all day, not long, for a while, since last year
- How often: sometimes, frequently, never, often, yearly

"When" adverbs are usually placed at the end of the sentence:

- Goldilocks went to the Bears' house yesterday.
- I'm going to tidy my room tomorrow.

This is a "neutral" position, but some "when" adverbs can be put in other positions to give a different emphasis

Compare:

- Later Goldilocks ate some porridge. (the time is more important)
- Goldilocks later ate some porridge. (this is more formal, like a policeman's report)
- Goldilocks ate some porridge later. (this is neutral, no particular emphasis)

"For how long" adverbs are usually placed at the end of the sentence:

- She stayed in the Bears' house all day.
- My mother lived in France for a year.

Notice: 'for' is always followed by an expression of duration:

- for three days,
- for a week,
- · for several years,
- for two centuries.

'since' is always followed by an expression of a point in time:

- since Monday,
- since 1997,
- since the last war.

"How often" adverbs expressing the frequency of an action are usually placed before the main verb but after auxiliary verbs (such as be, have, may, must):

- I often eat vegetarian food. (before the main verb)
- He never drinks milk. (before the main verb)
- You must always fasten your seat belt. (after the auxiliary must)
- She is never sea-sick. (after the auxiliary is)
- I have never forgotten my first kiss. (after the auxiliary have and before the main verb forgotten)

Some other "how often" adverbs express the exact number of times an action happens and are usually placed at the end of the sentence:

- This magazine is published monthly.
- He visits his mother once a week.

When a frequency adverb is placed at the end of a sentence it is much stronger.

Compare:

- She regularly visits France.
- She visits France regularly.

Adverbs that can be used in these two positions:

- frequently,
- generally,
- normally,
- · occasionally,
- often,
- regularly,
- sometimes,
- usually

'Yet' and 'still'

Yet is used in questions and in negative sentences, and is placed at the end of the sentence or after not.

- Have you finished your work yet? (= a simple request for information)
 No, not yet. (= simple negative answer)
- They haven't met him yet. (= simple negative statement)
- Haven't you finished yet? (= expressing slight surprise)

Still expresses continuity; it is used in positive sentences and questions, and is placed before the main verb and after auxiliary verbs (such as be, have, might, will)

- I am still hungry.
- She is still waiting for you
- Are you still here?
- Do you still work for the BBC?

ORDER OF ADVERBS OF TIME

If you need to use more than one adverb of time at the end of a sentence, use them in this order:

- 1: 'how long'
- 2: 'how often'
- 3: 'when' (think of 'low')

Example:

- 1 + 2 : I work (1) for five hours (2) every day
- 2 + 3 : The magazine was published (2) weekly (3) last year.
- 1 + 3 : I was abroad (1) for two months (3) last year.
- 1 + 2 + 3 : She worked in a hospital (1) for two days (2) every week (3) last year.

KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF CERTAINTY

These adverbs express how certain or sure we feel about an action or event.

Common adverbs of certainty:

certainly, definitely, probably, undoubtedly, surely

Adverbs of certainty go before the main verb but after the verb 'to be':

- He definitely left the house this morning.
- He is probably in the park.

With other auxiliary verb, these adverbs go between the auxiliary and the main verb:

- He has certainly forgotten the meeting.
- He will probably remember tomorrow.

Sometimes these adverbs can be placed at the beginning of the sentence:

• Undoubtedly, Winston Churchill was a great politician.

BE CAREFUL! with surely. When it is placed at the beginning of the sentence, it means the speaker thinks something is true, but is looking for confirmation:

Example:

• Surely you've got a bicycle?

KINDS OF ADVERBS

VIEWPOINT AND COMMENTING ADVERBS

There are some adverbs and adverbial expressions which tell us about the speaker's viewpoint or opinion about an action, or make some comment on the action.

Viewpoint

Frankly, I think he is a liar. (= this is my frank, honest opinion) Theoretically, you should pay a fine. (= from a theoretical point of view but there may be another way of looking at the situation)

These adverbs are placed at the beginning of the sentence and are separated from the rest of the sentence by a comma.

Some common Viewpoint adverbs:

honestly, seriously, confidentially, personally, surprisingly, ideally, economically, officially, obviously, clearly, surely, undoubtedly.

Examples:

- Personally, I'd rather go by train.
- Surprisingly, this car is cheaper than the smaller model.
- Geographically, Britain is rather cut off from the rest of Europe.

Commenting

- She is certainly the best person for the job.
- You obviously enjoyed your meal.

These are very similar to viewpoint adverbs, and often the same words, but they go in a different position - after the verb to be and before the main verb.

Some common Commenting adverbs:

definitely, certainly, obviously, simply.

$|\underline{A}|\underline{B}|\underline{C}|\underline{D}|\underline{E}|\underline{F}|\underline{G}|\underline{H}|\underline{I}|\underline{J}|\underline{K}|\underline{L}|\underline{M}|\underline{N}|\underline{O}|\underline{P}|\underline{Q}|\underline{R}|\underline{S}|\underline{T}|\underline{U}|\underline{V}|\underline{W}|\underline{X}|\underline{Y}|\underline{Z}|$

KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF DEGREE

Adverbs of degree tell us about the intensity or degree of an action, an adjective or another adverb.

Common adverbs of degree:

Almost, nearly, quite, just, too, enough, hardly, scarcely, completely, very, extremely.

Adverbs of degree are usually placed:

- 1. before the adjective or adverb they are modifying: e.g. The water was extremely cold.
- 2. before the main verb:e.g. He was just leaving. She has almost finished.

Examples:

- She doesn't quite know what she'll do after university.
- They are completely exhausted from the trip.
- I am too tired to go out tonight.
- He hardly noticed what she was saying.

Enough, very, too

Enough as an adverb meaning 'to the necessary degree' goes after adjectives and adverbs.

Example:

- Is your coffee hot enough? (adjective)
- He didn't work hard enough. (adverb)

It also goes before nouns, and means 'as much as is necessary'. In this case it is not an adverb, but a 'determiner'.

Example:

- We have enough bread.
- They don't have enough food.

Too as an adverb meaning 'more than is necessary or useful' goes before adjectives and adverbs, e.g.

- This coffee is too hot. (adjective)
- He works too hard. (adverb)

Enough and too with adjectives can be followed by 'for someone/something'.

Example:

- The dress was big enough for me.
- She's not experienced enough for this job.
- The coffee was too hot for me.
- The dress was too small for her.

We can also use 'to + infinitive' after enough and too with adjectives/adverb.

Example:

- The coffee was too hot to drink.
- He didn't work hard enough to pass the exam.
- She's not old enough to get married.
- You're too young to have grandchildren!

Very goes before an adverb or adjective to make it stronger.

Example:

- The girl was very beautiful. (adjective)
- He worked very quickly. (adverb)

If we want to make a negative form of an adjective or adverb, we can use a word of opposite meaning, or not very.

Example:

- The girl was ugly OR The girl was not very beautiful
- He worked slowly OR He did*n't* work very quickly.

BE CAREFUL! There is a big difference between too and very.

- Very expresses a fact: He speaks very quickly.
- Too suggests there is a problem: He speaks too quickly (for me to understand).

Other adverbs like very

These common adverbs are used like very and not very, and are listed in order of strength, from positive to negative:

extremely, especially, particularly, pretty, rather, quite, fairly, rather, not especially, not particularly.

Note: rather can be positive or negative, depending on the adjective or adverb that follows:

Positive: The teacher was rather nice.

Negative: The film was rather disappointing.

Note on inversion with negative adverbs:

SUBJECT	VERB
1	left
She	goes

However, some negative adverbs can cause an inversion - the order is reversed and the verb goes before the subject

Example:

I have never seen such courage. \longrightarrow Never have I seen such courage.

She rarely left the house. \Longrightarrow Rarely did she leave the house.

Negative inversion is used in writing, not in speaking.

Other adverbs and adverbial expressions that can be used like this:

seldom, scarcely, hardly, not only but also, no sooner than, not until, under no circumstances.

KINDS OF ADVERBS

INTERROGATIVE ADVERBS

These are:

why, where, how, when

They are usually placed at the beginning of a question.

Examples:

- Why are you so late?
- Where is my passport?
- How are you?
- . How much is that coat?
- When does the train arrive?

Notice that how can be used in four different ways:

- 1. meaning 'in what way?':
 How did you make this sauce?
 How do you start the car?
- 2. with adjectives: How tall are you? How old is your house?
- 3. with much and many: How much are these tomatoes? How many people are coming to the party?
- 4. with other adverbs:

 How quickly can you read this?

 How often do you go to London?

KINDS OF ADVERBS

RELATIVE ADVERBS

The following adverbs can be used to join sentences or clauses. They replace the more formal structure of preposition + which in a relative clause:

where, when, why

Examples:

- That's the restaurant where we met for the first time.
 (where = at/in which)
- I remember the day when we first met.
 (when = on which)
- There was a very hot summer the year when he was born.
 (when = in which)
- Tell me (the reason) why you were late home.
 (why = for which, but could replace the whole phrase 'the reason for which')

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

COMPARISONS OF QUANTITY

To show difference: more, less, fewer + than

Examples:

With countable nouns: more / fewer

- Eloise has more children than Chantal.
- Chantal has fewer children than Eloise.
- There are fewer dogs in Cardiff than in Bristol
- I have visited fewer countries than my friend has.
- He has read fewer books than she has.

With uncountable nouns: more / less

- Eloise has more money than Chantal.
- Chantal has less money than Eloise.
- I spend less time on homework than you do.
- Cats drink less water than dogs.
- This new dictionary gives more information than the old one.

So, the rule is:

MORE + nouns that are countable or uncountable FEWER + countable nouns LESS + uncountable nouns

INDEFINITE ARTICLE

A / AN

Use 'a' with nouns starting with a consonant (letters that are not vowels), 'an' with nouns starting with a vowel (a,e,i,o,u)

Examples:

A boy An apple A car An orange A house An opera

NOTE:

An before an h mute - an hour, an honour.

A before u and eu when they sound like 'you': a european, a university, a unit

The indefinite article is used:

to refer to something for the first time:
An elephant and a mouse fell in love.
Would you like a drink?
I've finally got a good job.

to refer to a particular member of a group or class

Examples:

with names of jobs:
 John is a doctor.

Mary is training to be an engineer.

He wants to be a dancer.

with nationalities and religions:

John is an Englishman.

Kate is a Catholic.

with musical instruments:

Sherlock Holmes was playing a violin when the visitor arrived. (BUT to describe the activity we say "He plays the violin.")

with names of days:I was born on a Thursday

- to refer to a kind of, or example of something: the mouse had a tiny nose the elephant had a long trunk it was a very strange car
- with singular nouns, after the words 'what' and 'such': What a shame! She's such a beautiful girl.

• meaning 'one', referring to a single object or person: I'd like an orange and two lemons please. The burglar took a diamond necklace and a valuable painting.

Notice also that we usually say a hundred, a thousand, a million.

NOTE: that we use 'one' to add emphasis or to contrast with other numbers: I don't know one person who likes eating elephant meat. We've got six computers but only one printer.

EXCEPTIONS TO USING THE DEFINITE ARTICLE

There is no article:

- with names of countries (if singular)
 Germany is an important economic power.
 He's just returned from Zimbabwe.
 (But: I'm visiting the United States next week.)
- with the names of languages
 French is spoken in Tahiti.
 English uses many words of Latin origin.
 Indonesian is a relatively new language.
- with the names of meals.
 Lunch is at midday.
 Dinner is in the evening.
 Breakfast is the first meal of the day.
- with people's names (if singular):
 John's coming to the party.
 George King is my uncle.
 (But: we're having lunch with the Morgans tomorrow.)
- with titles and names:
 Prince Charles is Queen Elizabeth's son.
 President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.
 Dr. Watson was Sherlock Holmes' friend.
 (But: the Queen of England, the Pope.)
- After the 's possessive case:
 His brother's car.
 Peter's house.
- with professions:
 Engineering is a useful career.
 He'll probably go into medicine.
- with names of shops:
 I'll get the card at Smith's.
 Can you go to Boots for me?
- with years:

THE DEMONSTRATIVES

THIS, THAT, THESE, THOSE

1. Function

The demonstratives this, that, these, those, show where an object or person is in relation to the speaker.

This (singular) and these (plural) refer to an object or person near the speaker. That (singular) and those (plural) refer to an object or person further away. It can be a physical closeness or distance as in:

Who owns that house? (distant) Is this John's house? (near)

Or it can be a psychological distance as in:

That's nothing to do with me.. (distant)
This is a nice surprise! (near)

2. Position

- a) Before the noun.
- b) Before the word 'one'.
- c) Before an adjective + noun.
- d) Alone when the noun is 'understood'.

Examples:

This car looks cleaner than that one.
This old world keeps turning round
Do you remember that wonderful day in June?
I'll never forget this.

THE POSSESSIVES

Possessive pronouns and possessive adjectives show who the thing belongs to.

PERSON_		ADJECTIVES	PRONOUNS
1st	(I)	my	mine
2nd (you) y		your	yours
3rd	(he)	his	his
	(she)	her	hers
	(it)	it	its Plural_
1st	(we)	our	ours
2nd	(you)	your	yours
3rd	(they)	their	theirs

NOTE: In English, possessive adjectives and pronouns refer to the possessor, not the object or person that is possessed.

Example:

Jane's brother is married to John's sister. Her brother is married to his sister.

Examples:

- a. Peter and his sister.
- b. Jane and her father.
- c. Do you know where your books are?
- d. Is this their picnic? No, it is ours.
- e. I think this is your passport. Yes, it is mine.

Quantifiers with countable and uncountable nouns

Adjectives and adjectival phrases that describe quantity are shown below. Some can only go with countable nouns (friends, cups, people), and some can only go with uncountable nouns (sugar, tea, money, advice). The words in the middle column can be used with both countable and uncountable nouns.

Only with uncountable nouns	With uncountable and countable nouns	Only with countable nouns
How much?	How much? or How many?	How many?
a little	no/none	a few
a bit (of)	not any	a number (of)
-	some (any)	several
a great deal of	a lot of	a large number of a large amount of	plenty of	a great number of
-	lots of	-

+ noun

Note: much and many are used in negative and question forms.

Example:

- How much money have you got?
- How many cigarettes have you smoked?
- There's not much sugar in the cupboard.
- There were n't many people at the concert.

They are also used with too, (not) so, and (not) as: There were too many people at the concert - we couldn't see the band.

It's a problem when there are so many people.

There's not so much work to do this week.

In positive statements, we use a lot of:

- I've got a lot of work this week.
- There were a lot of people at the concert.

next 🕞

A few and few, a little and little

These expressions show the speaker's attitude towards the quantity he/she is referring to.

A few (for countable nouns) and a little (for uncountable nouns) describe the quantity in a positive way:

- "I've got a few friends" (= maybe not many, but enough)
- "I've got a little money" (= I've got enough to live on)

Few and little describe the quantity in a negative way:

- Few people visited him in hospital (= he had almost no visitors)
- He had little money (= almost no money)

Some and Any

Some and any are used with countable and uncountable nouns, to describe an indefinite or incomplete quantity.

Some is used in positive statements:

- I had some rice for lunch
- He's got some books from the library.

It is also used in questions where we are sure about the answer:

- Did he give you some tea? (= I'm sure he did.)
- Is there some fruit juice in the fridge? (= I think there is)

Some is used in situations where the question is not a request for information, but a method of making a request, encouraging or giving an invitation:

- Could I have some books, please?
- Why don't you take some books home with you?
- Would you like some books?

Any is used in questions and with not in negative statements:

- Have you got any tea?
- He didn't give me any tea.
- I don't think we've got any coffee left.

More examples:

SOME in positive sentences.

- a. I will have some news next week.
- b. She has some valuable books in her house.
- c. Philip wants some help with his exams.
- d. There is some butter in the fridge.
- e. We need some cheese if we want to make a fondue.

SOME in questions:

- a. Would you like some help?
- b. Will you have some more roast beef?

ANY in negative sentences

- a. She doesn't want any kitchen appliances for Christmas.
- b. They don't want any help moving to their new house.
- c. No, thank you. I don't want any more cake.
- d. There is n't any reason to complain.

ANY in interrogative sentences

a. Do you have any friends in London?

- b. Have they got any children?c. Do you want any groceries from the shop?
- d. Are there any problems with your work?

THE QUANTIFIERS

Compound nouns made with SOME, ANY and NO

Some +
Any + -thing -body -one -where
No +

Compound nouns with some- and any- are used in the same way as some and any.

Positive statements:

- Someone is sleeping in my bed.
- He saw something in the garden.
- I left my glasses somewhere in the house.

Questions:

- Are you looking for someone? (= I'm sure you are)
- Have you lost something? (= I'm sure you have)
- Is there anything to eat? (real question)
- Did you go anywhere last night?

Negative statements:

- She didn't go anywhere last night.
- He doesn't know anybody here.

NOTICE that there is a difference in emphasis between nothing, nobody etc. and not ... anything, not ... anybody:

- I don't know anything about it. (= neutral, no emphasis)
- I know nothing about it (= more emphatic, maybe defensive)

More examples:

SOMETHING, SOMEBODY, SOMEWHERE

- a. I have something to tell you.
- b. There is something to drink in the fridge.
- c. He knows somebody in New York
- d. Susie has somebody staying with her.
- e. They want to go somewhere hot for their holidays.
- f. Keith is looking for somewhere to live.

ANYBODY, ANYTHING, ANYWHERE

- a. Is there anybody who speaks English here?
- b. Does anybody have the time?
- c. Is there anything to eat?
- d. Have you anything to say?
- e. He doesn't have anything to stay tonight.

f. I wouldn't eat anything except at Maxim's.

NOBODY, NOTHING, NOWHERE

- a. There is nobody in the house at the moment
- b. When I arrived there was nobody to meet me.
- c. I have learnt nothing since I began the course.
- d. There is nothing to eat.
- e. There is nowhere as beautiful as Paris in the Spring.
- f. Homeless people have nowhere to go at night.

ANY can also be used in positive statements to mean 'no matter which', 'no matter who', 'no matter what':

Examples:

- a. You can borrow any of my books.
- b. They can choose anything from the menu.
- c. You may invite anybody to dinner, I don't mind.

Graded Quantifiers

They function like comparatives and hold a relative position on a scale of increase or decrease.

INCREASE From 0% to 100%
With plural countable nouns:
many	more	most
With uncountable nouns:
much	more	most

DECREASE From 100% to 0%
With plural co	untable nouns:
few	fewer	fewest
With uncounta	able nouns:
little	less	least

Examples:

- There are many people in England, more in India, but the most people live in China.
- Much time and money is spent on education, more on health services but the most is spent on national defence.
- Few rivers in Europe are not polluted.
- Fewer people die young now than in the seventeenth century.
- The country with the fewest people per square kilometre must be Australia.
- Scientists have little hope of finding a complete cure for cancer before the year 2,000.
- She had less time to study than Paul but had better results.
- Give that dog the least opportunity and it will bite you.

$|\underline{A}|\underline{B}|\underline{C}|\underline{D}|\underline{E}|\underline{F}|\underline{G}|\underline{H}|\underline{I}|\underline{J}|\underline{K}|\underline{L}|\underline{M}|\underline{N}|\underline{O}|\underline{P}|\underline{Q}|\underline{R}|\underline{S}|\underline{T}|\underline{U}|\underline{V}|\underline{W}|\underline{X}|\underline{Y}|\underline{Z}|$

Enough + Noun

Enough is placed before the noun, to indicate the quantity required or necessary:

- There is enough bread for lunch.
- She has enough money.

Enough is also used with adjectives and adverbs - see these sections.

- We didn't have enough time to visit London Bridge.
- Are there enough eggs to make an omelette?
- Richard has enough talent to become a singing star.

THE DISTRIBUTIVES

ALL, BOTH, HALF

These words can be used in the following ways:

	1	-	Uncountable noun
	2	the	or
ALL +	3	my, your, etc.	Countable noun in the plural
	4a	this, that	Uncountable noun
	4b	these, those	Countable noun in the plural

Example:

- All cheese contains protein All children need affection
- 2. All the people in the room were silent. Have you eaten all the bread?
- 3. I've invited all my friends to the party. I've been waiting all my life for this opportunity.
- 4a. Who's left all this paper on my desk?
- 4b. Look at all those balloons!

	2	the	or
HALF +	3	my, your, etc.	countable noun
	4	this, that, these, those

Example:

- 1. I bought half a kilo of apples yesterday.
- 2. You can have half (of) the cake. She gave me half (of) the apples.
- 3. I've already given you half (of) my money. Half (of) his books were in French.
- 4 Half (of) these snakes are harmless You can take half (of) this sugar.

NOTE: All, both, half + OF: 'OF' must be added when followed by a pronoun:

All of you; both of us; half of them

It is also quite common to add it in most of the above situations except when there is no article (No.1 in all the tables above.)

THE DISTRIBUTIVES

EACH, EVERY, EITHER, NEITHER

These distributive words are normally used with singular nouns, and are placed before the noun.

Each, either and neither can be used with plural nouns but must be followed by 'of':

Each is a way of seeing the members of a group as individuals:

- Each child received a present.
- Each of the children received a present.

Every is a way of seeing a group as a series of members:

• Every child in the world deserves affection.

It can also express different points in a series, especially with time expressions:

- Every third morning John goes jogging.
- This magazine is published every other week.

Either and Neither are concerned with distribution between two things - either is positive, neither is negative:

- Which chair do you want? Either chair will do.
- I can stay at either hotel, they are both good
- There are two chairs here. You can take either of them.
- Neither chair is any good, they're both too small.
- Which chair do you want? Neither of them they're both too small.

PRE-DETERMINERS

SUCH, WHAT, RATHER, QUITE

These words are normally placed before the indefinite article. Such and what are often used to express surprise or other emotions:

Examples:

- a. What a lovely day!
- b. She's such a lovely woman!
- c. What an incredible film!
- d. He's such a fantastic guitarist!

Rather and quite are 'commenting' words, referring to the degree of a particular quality. They can express disappointment, pleasure, or other emotions, and are used before a/an + adjective + noun:

Examples:

- a. It's rather a small car. (= I'm a bit disappointed because it's small)
- b. It was quite a nice day. (= I was agreeably surprised.)
- c. He's had quite a bad accident. (= I'm worried)
- d. I've just met rather a nice man. (= I'm pleased)

THE INFINITIVE

The zero infinitive is used:

- a. after most auxiliaries (e.g. must, can, should, may, might)
- b. after verbs of perception, (e.g. see, hear, feel) with the pattern verb + object + zero infinitive
- c. after the verbs 'make' and 'let', with the pattern make/let + object + zero infinitive
- d. after the expression 'had better'
- e. after the expression 'would rather' when referring to the speaker's own actions

Examples:

After auxiliaries:

- She can't speak to you.
- He should give her some money.
- Shall I talk to him?
- Would you like a cup of coffee?
- I might stay another night in the hotel.
- They must leave before 10.00 a.m.

After verbs of perception:

- He saw her fall from the cliff.
- We heard them close the door.
- They saw us walk toward the lake.
- She felt the spider crawl up her leg.

After the verbs 'make' and 'let':

- Her parents let her stay out late.
- Let's go to the cinema tonight.
- You made me love you.
- Don't make me study that boring grammar book!

NOTICE that the 'to-infinitive' is used when 'make' is in the passive voice:

- I am made to sweep the floor every day.
- She was made to eat fish even though she hated it.

After 'had better':

We had better take some warm clothing. She had better ask him not to come. You'd better not smile at a crocodile! We had better reserve a room in the hotel. You'd better give me your address. They had better work harder on their grammar!

After 'would rather':

Note: this is ONLY when referring to the speaker's own actions - see 'would rather' in section on Unreal past.

THE INFINITIVE

1. Form

The infinitive is the base form of a verb. It may be preceded by 'to' (the to-infinitive) or stand alone (the base or zero infinitive).

2. Infinitive with or without 'to'

The to-infinitive is used:

- a. after certain verbs. e.g. want, wish, agree, fail, mean, decide, learn
- b. after the auxiliaries to be to, to have to, and ought to
- c. in the pattern 'it is + adjective + to-infinitive'

Examples:

with 'to'

- The elephant decided to marry the mouse
- The mouse agreed to marry the elephant
- You will have to ask her
- You are to leave immediately
- He ought to relax
- She has to go to Berlin next week
- It's easy to speak English
- It is hard to change jobs after twenty years
- It's stupid to believe everything you hear without 'to'

- I would rather visit Rome.
- She would rather live in Italy.
- Would you rather eat steak or fish?
- He would rather work in a bank.
- I'd rather be a forest than a tree.

THE 'ZERO' CONDITIONAL

1. Form

In 'zero' conditional sentences, the tense in both parts of the sentence is the simple present:

'IF' CLAUSE (CONDITION)	MAIN CLAUSE (RESULT)
If + simple present	simple present
If you heat ice	it melts.
If it rains	you get wet

NOTE: The order of the clauses is not fixed - the 'if' clause can be first or second:

- Ice melts if you heat it.
- You get wet if it rains.

2. Function

In these sentences, the time is now or always and the situation is real and possible. They are used to make statements about the real world, and often refer to general truths, such as scientific facts.

Examples:

- a. If you freeze water, it becomes a solid.
- b. Plants die if they don't get enough water.
- c. If my husband has a cold, I usually catch it.
- d. If public transport is efficient, people stop using their cars.
- e. If you mix red and blue, you get purple.

This structure is often used to give instructions, using the imperative in the main clause:

- If Bill phones, tell him to meet me at the cinema.
- Ask Pete if you're not sure what to do.

THE INFINITIVE

VERBS NORMALLY FOLLOWED BY THE INFINITIVE

C. These are the most common of the verbs followed by a to-infinitive, with or without a noun.

Example:

- I asked him to show me the book.
- I asked to see the book.

ask* expect* beg* help

choose mean* (=intend)

dare request* desire* want elect wish*

The verbs marked * can also be followed by a that-clause

Note:

dare: In negative and interrogative sentences the infinitive with or without 'to' is possible, though it is more common to omit the 'to':

- I never dared tell him what happened.
- Dare you tell him the news?
- Would you dare (to) jump out of a plane?

Examples:

- We've chosen John to represent the company at the conference.
- The elephant didn't mean to tread on the mouse.
- We expect you to do your best in the exam.
- Do you want to go to the beach?
- Do you want me to go with you to the beach?
- You are requested to be quiet in this library.

REPORTED SPEECH

SUMMARY OF REPORTING VERBS

Note that some reporting verbs may appear in more than one of the following groups.

1. Verbs followed by 'if' or 'whether' + clause:

ask say know see remember

2. Verbs followed by a that-clause:

add doubt reply admit estimate report agree explain reveal announce fear say answer feel state argue insist suggest boast mention suppose claim observe tell think comment persuade complain understand propose confirm remark warn consider remember deny repeat

3. Verbs followed by either a that-clause or a to-infinitive:

decide promise expect swear guarantee threaten hope

4. Verbs followed by a that-clause containing should (but note that it may be omitted, leaving a subject + zero-infinitive):

advise insist recommend beg prefer request demand propose suggest

5. Verbs followed by a clause starting with a question word:

decide	imagine	see
describe	know	suggest discover	learn	teach discuss	realise	tell
explain	remember	think
forget	reveal	understand
guess	say	wonder

6. Verbs followed by object + to-infinitive

advise	forbid	teach
ask	instruct	tell
beg	invite	warn command

'- ING' FORM

VERBS FOLLOWED BY THE GERUND

The gerund is used after certain verbs.

Example:

miss: I miss living in England.

The most important of these verbs are shown below. Those marked * can also be followed by a that-clause

Example:

VERB	GERUND
She admitted	breaking the window
	THAT-CLAUSE
She admitted	that she had broken the window.
acknowledge,* admit,* anticipate,* appreci avoid, celebrate, consider, contemplatedefer, delay, deny,* detest, dislike, dread, enjoy, entail, escape, excuse, fancy (=imagine), finish, forgive, imagine, involve,	mention,* mind,

Notes:

Appreciate is followed by a possessive adjective and the gerund when the gerund does not refer to the subject. Compare:

I appreciate having some time off work. (I'm having the time...)

I appreciate your giving me some time off work. (You're giving me the time...)

Excuse, forgive, pardon can be followed by an object and the gerund or for + object and the gerund (both common in spoken English), or a possessive adjective + gerund (more formal and less likely to be said): Excuse me interrupting.

Excuse me for interrupting.

Excuse my interrupting.

Suggest can be used in a number of ways, but BE CAREFUL. It is important not to confuse these patterns:

suggest/suggested (+ possessive adjective) + gerund: He suggests going to Glastonbury He suggested going to Glastonbury He suggested/suggests my going to Glastonbury suggest/suggested + that-clause (where both that and should may be omitted):

He suggests that I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested that I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested/suggests I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested/suggests I go to Glastonbury
He suggested I went to Glastonbury.

suggest/suggested + question word + infinitive: He suggested where to go.

Propose is followed by the gerund when it means 'suggest': John proposed going to the debate but by the infinitive when it means 'intend': The Government proposes bringing in new laws.

Stop can be followed by a gerund or infinitive, but there is a change of meaning - see GERUND / INFINITIVE? section.

Dread is followed by the infinitive when used with 'think', in the expression 'I dread to think':

I dread to think what she'll do next.

Prevent is followed

EITHER by a possessive adjective + gerund: You can't prevent my leaving.

OR by an object + from + gerund: You can't prevent me from leaving.

Examples:

- Normally, a mouse wouldn't contemplate marrying an elephant.
- Most mice dread meeting elephants.
- We can't risk getting wet we haven't got any dry clothes.
- If you take that job it will mean getting home late every night.
- I can't imagine living in that big house.
- If you buy some petrol now, it will save you stopping on the way to London.
- She couldn't resist eating the plum she found in the fridge.
- They decided to postpone painting the house until the weather improved.

'- ING' FORM

GERUND OR INFINITIVE?

The two groups of verbs below can be followed either by the gerund or by the infinitive. Usually this has no effect on the meaning, but with some verbs there is a clear difference in meaning. Verbs marked * can also be followed by a that-clause.

Example: to prefer

I prefer to live in an apartment. I prefer living in an apartment.

A. Verbs where there is little or no difference in meaning:

allow	deserve	neglect
attempt	fear*	omit
begin	hate*	permit
bother	intend*	prefer*
cease	like	recommend*
continue	love	start

Notes:

- 1. Allow is used in these two patterns:
- a. Allow + object + to-infinitive:Her parents allowed her to go to the party.b. Allow + gerund:

Her parents don't allow smoking in the house.

- 2. Deserve + gerund is not very common, but is mainly used with passive constructions or where there is a passive meaning:
- a. Your proposals deserve being considered in detail.
- b. These ideas deserve discussing. (= to be discussed).
- 3. The verbs hate, love, like, prefer are usually followed by a gerund when the meaning is general, and by a to-infinitive when they refer to a particular time or situation. You must always use the to-infinitive with the expressions 'would love to', 'would hate to', etc.

Compare:

- I hate to tell you, but Uncle Jim is coming this weekend.
- I hate looking after elderly relatives!
- I love dancing.
- I would love to dance with you.

ENGLISH IRREGULAR VERBS

Irregular verbs are the bane of students whose mother tongue is not English and who are trying to understand how these verbs are applied in various tenses. They even trip up native English speakers who aren't always sure of the form of these verbs! It isn't made any easier by the fact that some verbs are regular in American English and irregular in British English.

However, there are some general classifications that make it a little easier to remember how these verbs are formed and to remember them when applying them in your sentences.

Irregular verbs in English fall into three categories:

- 1. GROUP 1: verbs where all three forms are the same e.g. 'hit, hit, hit'
- 2. GROUP 2: verbs where two of the three forms are the same e.g. 'become, became, become'
- 3. GROUP 3: verbs where all three forms are different e.g. 'choose, chose, chosen'

Common irregular verbs that differ in American English and British English

- wake can be regular in American English but is irregular in British English
- dive is irregular in American English but regular in British English
- get in American English usually has a past particple of 'gotten' while in British English the past participle is 'got'
- wet, quit, and fit are regular in British English but irregular in American English
- learn,lean,smell,burn,dream,spill and spoil are all regular in American English while in British English they can be regular but is more common to see the past and past participles with -t added (e.g. dreamt,spoilt,spilt,smelt)

THE INFINITIVE

VERBS NORMALLY FOLLOWED BY THE INFINITIVE

B. These are the most common of the verbs that are normally followed by a noun + infinitive. The verbs marked * may also be followed by a 'that-clause'.

Example:

VERB	NOUN	INFINITIVE
He reminded He reminded	me me	to buy some eggs. THAT-CLAUSE that I had to buy some	e eggs.
accustom aid appoint assist cause challenge command* defy direct* drive empower enable encourage entice	entitle entreat force get implore* incite induce inspire instruct* invite lead leave (make oblige	someone responsible)	order* persuade* press prompt provoke remind* require* stimulate summon teach tell tempt trust* warn*

Notes:

command, direct, entreat, implore, order, require, trust: there is no noun between these verbs and a 'that-clause':

- The general commanded his men to surrender.
- The general commanded that his men should surrender.

persuade and remind:

there is always a noun between these verbs and a 'that-clause':

- You can't persuade people to buy small cars.
- You can't persuade people that small cars are better.

instruct, teach, warn:

the noun is optional between these verbs and a 'that-clause':

- She taught her students to appreciate poetry.
- She taught her students that poetry was valuable.
- She taught that poetry was valuable.

Examples:

- The professor challenged his students to argue with his theory.
- This law empowers the government to charge more taxes.
- You can't force me to do something I don't agree with.
- You are obliged to drive on the left in England.
- I invited the new student to have dinner with me.
- What inspired you to write this poem?
- The elephant told the mouse to climb up his tail.

demand*	prepare	undertake
determine*	pretend*	volunteer

† These verbs can only be followed by a 'that-clause' when they have the subject 'it'. e.g. It appeared that no-one had locked the door.

Examples:

endeavour

- He claimed to be an expert.
- I managed to reach the top of the hill.
- I know you're only pretending to love me!

proceed

- Don't pretend that you know the answer.
- She failed to explain the problem clearly.
- The customs man demanded to search our luggage.
- I can't afford to go out tonight.

vow*

TENSES

PRESENT CONTINUOUS

1. Present continuous, form

The present continuous of any verb is composed of two parts - the present tense of the verb to be + the present participle of the main verb.

(The form of the present participle is: base+ing, e.g. talking, playing, moving, smiling)

Affirmative
Subject	+ to be	+ base+ing
she	is	talking

Negative
Subject	+ to be + not	+ base+ing
she	is not (isn't)	talking

Interrogative
to be	+ subject	+ base+ing
is	she	talking?

Example: to go, present continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I am going	I am not going	Am I going?
You are going	You aren't going.	Are you going?
He, she, it is going	He, she, it isn't going	Is he, she, it going?
We are going	We aren't going	Are we going?
You are going	You aren't going	Are you going?
They are going	They aren't going	Are they going?

Note: alternative negative contractions: I'm not going, you're not going, he's not going etc.

2. Present continuous, function

As with all tenses in English, the speaker's attitude is as important as the time of the action or event. When someone uses the present continuous, they are thinking about something that is unfinished or incomplete.

The present continuous is used:

- to describe an action that is going on at this moment e.g. You are using the Internet. You are studying English grammar.
- to describe an action that is going on during this period of time or a trend, e.g. Are you still working for the same company? More and more people are becoming vegetarian.
- to describe an action or event in the future, which has already been planned or prepared (See also 'Ways of expressing the future) e.g. We're going on holiday tomorrow. I'm meeting my boyfriend tonight. Are they visiting you next winter?
- to describe a temporary event or situation, e.g. He usually plays the drums, but he's playing bass guitar tonight. The weather forecast was good, but it's raining at the moment.
- with 'always, forever, constantly', to describe and emphasise a continuing series of repeated actions, e.g. Harry and Sally are always arguing! You're forever complaining about your mother-in-law!

BE CAREFUL! Some verbs are not used in the continuous form - see below.

3. Verbs that are not normally used in the continuous form

The verbs in the list below are normally used in the simple form, because they refer to states, rather than actions or processes:

List of common verbs normally used in simple form:

Senses / Perception

feel*, hear, see*, smell, taste

Opinion

assume, believe, consider, doubt, feel (= think), find (= consider), suppose, think *

Mental states

forget, imagine, know, mean, notice, recognise, remember, understand

Emotions / desires envy, fear, dislike, hate, hope, like, love, mind, prefer, regret, want, wish

Measurement

contain, cost, hold, measure, weigh

Others

look (=resemble), seem, be (in most cases), have (when it means to possess)*

Notes:

- 1. 'Perception' verbs (see, hear, feel, taste, smell) are often used with 'can': e.g. I can see...
- 2. * These verbs may be used in the continuous form but with a different meaning, compare:
- a. This coat feels nice and warm. (= your perception of the coat's qualities)
- b. John's feeling much better now (= his health is improving)
- a. She has three dogs and a cat. (=possession)
- b. She's having supper. (= She's eating)

- a. I can see Anthony in the garden (= perception)
- b. I'm seeing Anthony later (= We are planning to meet)

Examples:

- I wish I was in Greece now.
- She wants to see him now.
- I don't understand why he is shouting.
- I feel we are making a mistake.
- This glass holds half a litre.

TENSES

SIMPLE PAST

BE CAREFUL! The simple past in English may look like a tense in your own language, but the meaning may be different.

1. Simple past, form

Regular verbs: base+ed

e.g. walked, showed, watched, played, smiled, stopped

Irregular verbs: see list in verbs

Simple past, be, have, do:

Subject	Verb
Subject	Ве	Have	Do
I	was	had	did
You	were	had	did
He, she, it	was	had	did
We	were	had	did
You	were	had	did
They	were	had	did

Affirmative

- a. I was in Japan last year
- b. She had a headache yesterday.
- c. We did our homework last night.

Negative and interrogative

Note: For the negative and interrogative simple past form of "do" as an ordinary verb, use the auxiliary "do", e.g. We didn't do our homework last night. The negative of "have" in the simple past is usually formed using the auxiliary "do", but sometimes by simply adding not or the contraction "n't". The interrogative form of "have" in the simple past normally uses the auxiliary "do".

- They weren't in Rio last summer.
- We hadn't any money.
- We didn't have time to visit the Eiffel Tower.
- We didn't do our exercises this morning.
- Were they in Iceland last January?
- Did you have a bicycle when you were a boy?
- Did you do much climbing in Switzerland?

Simple past, regular verbs

Subject	verb + ed
I	washed
Negative
Subject	did not	infinitive without to
They	didn't	visit
Interrogative
Did	subject	infinitive without to
Did	she	arrive?
Interrogative negative
Did not	subject	infinitive without to
Didn't	you	like?

Example: to walk, simple past.

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I walked	l didn't walk	Did I walk?
You walked	You didn't walk	Did you walk?
He,she,it walked	He didn't walk	Did he walk?
We walked	We didn't walk	Did we walk?
You walked	You didn't walk	Did you walk?
They walked	They didn't walk	Did they walk?

Note: For the negative and interrogative form of all verbs in the simple past, always use the auxiliary 'did'.

Examples: Simple past, irregular verbs to go

- a. He went to a club last night.
- b. Did he go to the cinema last night?
- c. He didn't go to bed early last night.

to give

- d. We gave her a doll for her birthday.
- e. They didn't give John their new address.
- f. Did Barry give you my passport?

to come

- g. My parents came to visit me last July.
- h. We didn't come because it was raining.
- i. Did he come to your party last week?

2. Simple past, function

The simple past is used to talk about a completed action in a time before now. Duration is not important. The time of the action can be in the recent past or the distant past.

- John Cabot sailed to America in 1498.
- My father died last year.
- He lived in Fiji in 1976.
- We crossed the Channel yesterday.

You always use the simple past when you say when something happened, so it is associated with certain past time expressions

Examples:

• frequency:

often, sometimes, always;

• a definite point in time:

last week, when I was a child, yesterday, six weeks ago.

• an indefinite point in time:

the other day, ages ago, a long time ago etc.

Note: the word ago is a useful way of expressing the distance into the past. It is placed after the period of time e.g. a week ago, three years ago, a minute ago.

Examples:

- a. Yesterday, I arrived in Geneva.
- b. She finished her work at seven o'clock.
- c. We saw a good film last week.
- d. I went to the theatre last night.
- e. She played the piano when she was a child.
- f. He sent me a letter six months ago.
- g. Peter left five minutes ago.

FUTURE FORMS

Introduction

There are a number of different ways of referring to the future in English. It is important to remember that we are expressing more than simply the time of the action or event. Obviously, any 'future' tense will always refer to a time 'later than now', but it may also express our attitude to the future event.

All of the following ideas can be expressed using different tenses:

- a. Simple prediction
- b. Arrangements
- c. Plans and intentions
- d. Time-tabled events
- e. Prediction based on present evidence
- f. Willingness
- g. An action in progress in the future
- h. An action or event that is a matter of routine
- i. Obligation
- j. An action or event that will take place immediately or very soon
- k. Projecting ourselves into the future and looking back at a completed action.

The example sentences below correspond to the ideas above:

- a. There will be snow in many areas tomorrow.
- b. I'm meeting Jim at the airport.
- c. We're going to spend the summer abroad.
- d. The plane takes off at 3 a.m.
- e. I think it's going to rain!
- f. We'll give you a lift to the cinema.
- g. This time next week I'll be sun-bathing.
- h. You'll be seeing John in the office tomorrow, won't you?
- i. You are to travel directly to London.
- j. The train is about to leave.
- k. A month from now he will have finished all his exams.

It is clear from these examples that several tenses are used to express the future. The sections that follow show the form and function of each of these tenses.

TENSES

PAST PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Past perfect continuous, form

The past perfect continuous is composed of two elements - the past perfect of the verb to be (=had been) + the present participle (base+ing).

Examples:

Subject	had been	verb-ing
1	had been	walking

Affirmative
She_	had been	trying
Negative
We	hadn't been	sleeping
Interrogative
Had you	been	eating
Interrogative negative
Hadn't they	been	living

Example: to buy, past perfect continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I had been buying	I hadn't been buying	Had I been buying?
You had been buying	You hadn't been buying	Had you been buying
He,she,it had been buying	He hadn't been buying	Had she been buying?
We had been buying	We hadn't been buying	Had we been buying?
You had been buying	You hadn't been buying	Had you been buying
They had been buying	They hadn't been buying	Had they been buying

Past perfect continuous, function

The past perfect continuous corresponds to the present perfect continuous, but with reference to a time earlier than 'before now'. Again, we are more interested in the process.

Examples:

- a. Had you been waiting long before the taxi arrived?
- b. We had been trying to open the door for five minutes when Jane found her key.
- c. It had been raining hard for several hours and the streets were very wet.
- d. Her friends had been thinking of calling the police when she walked in.

This form is also used in reported speech. It is the equivalent of the past continuous and the present perfect continuous in direct speech:

Jane said "I have been gardening all afternoon." > Jane said she had been gardening all afternoon.

When the police questioned him, John said "I was working late in the office that night." When the police questioned him, John told them he had been working late in the office that night.

PAST PERFECT

Past perfect, form

The Past Perfect tense in English is composed of two parts: the past tense of the verb to have (had) + the past participle of the main verb.

Subject	had	past participle
We	had	decided

Affirmative
She	had	given.
Negative
We	hadn't	asked.
Interrogative
Had	they	arrived?
Interrogative negative
Hadn't	you	finished?

Example: to decide, Past perfect

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I had decided	I hadn't decided	Had I decided?
You had decided	You hadn't decided	Had you decided?
He, she, it had decided	He hadn't decided	Had she decided?
We had decided	We hadn't decided	Had we decided?
You had decided	You hadn't decided	Had you decided?
They had decided	They hadn't decided	Had they decided?

Past perfect, function

The past perfect refers to a time earlier than before now. It is used to make it clear that one event happened before another in the past. It does not matter which event is mentioned first - the tense makes it clear which one happened first.

In these examples, Event A is the first or earliest event, Event B is the second or latest event:

	John had gone out	when I arrived in the office.
а.	Event A	Event B
b.	I had saved my document	before the computer crashed.
	Event A	Event B
_	When they arrived	we had already started cooking
C.	Event B	Event A

Past perfect + just

'Just' is used with the past perfect to refer to an event that was only a short time earlier than before now, e.g.

- a. The train had just left when I arrived at the station.
- b. She had just left the room when the police arrived.
- c. I had just put the washing out when it started to rain.

SIMPLE FUTURE

Simple future, form

The 'simple' future is composed of two parts: will / shall + the infinitive without 'to'

Subject	will	infinitive without to
Не	will	leave

Affirmative
I	will	go
I	shall	go
Negative
They	will not	see
They	won't	see
Interrogative
Will	she	ask?
Interrogative negative
Won't	she	take?

Contractions:
I will →→ I'II	We will → we'll
You will you'll	You will - you'll
He,she, will - he'll, she'll	They will - they'll

NOTE: The form 'it will' is not normally shortened.

Example: to see, simple future

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I'll see	I won't see/	Will I see?/
*I will/shall see	I shan't see	Shall I see?
You'll see	You won't see	Will you see?
He, she, it will see	He won't see	Will she see?
We'll see	We won't see/	Will we see?/
*We will/shall see	We shan't see	Shall we see?
You will see	You won't see	Will you see?
They'll see	They won't see	Will they see?

*NOTE: shall is slightly dated but can be used instead of will with I / we.

Simple future, function

The simple future refers to a time later than now, and expresses facts or certainty. In this case there is no 'attitude'.

The simple future is used:

- a. to predict a future event: It will rain tomorrow.
- b. (with I/we) to express a spontaneous decision: I'II pay for the tickets by credit card.
- c. to express willingness: I'll do the washing-up. He'll carry your bag for you.
- d. (in the negative form) to express unwillingness: The baby won't eat his soup. I won't leave until I've seen the manager!
- e. (with I in the interrogative form) to make an offer: Shall I open the window?
- f. (with we in the interrogative form) to make a suggestion: Shall we go to the cinema tonight?
- g. (with I in the interrogative form) to ask for advice or instructions: What shall I tell the boss about this money?
- h. (with you) to give orders: You will do exactly as I say.
- i. (with you) to give an invitation: Will you come to the dance with me? Will you marry me?

NOTE: In modern English will is preferred to shall.

Shall is mainly used with I and we to make an offer or suggestion (see examples (e) and (f) above, or to ask for advice (example (g) above). With the other persons (you, he, she, they) shall is only used in literary or poetic situations, e.g.

"With rings on her fingers and bells on her toes, She shall have music wherever she goes."

PAST CONTINUOUS

1. Past continuous - form.

The past continuous of any verb is composed of two parts: the past tense of the verb to be (was/were), and the base of the main verb +ing.

base-ing

reading?

They	were	watching
Affirmative
She	was	reading
Negative
She	wasn't	reading
Interrogative
Was	she	reading?

she was/were

Example: to play, past continuous

Interrogative negative

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I was playing	I was not playing	Was I playing?
You were playing	You were not playing	Were you playing?
He, she, it was playing	She wasn't playing	Was she playing?
We were playing	We weren't playing	Were we playing?
You were playing	You weren't playing	Were you playing?
They were playing	They weren't playing	Were they playing?

2. Past continuous, function

The past continuous describes actions or events in a time before now, which began in the past and was still going on at the time of speaking. In other words, it expresses an unfinished or incomplete action in the past.

It is used:

- often, to describe the background in a story written in the past tense, e.g. "The sun was shining and the birds were singing as the elephant came out of the jungle. The other animals were relaxing in the shade of the trees, but the elephant moved very quickly. She was looking for her baby, and she didn't notice the hunter who was watching her through his binoculars. When the shot rang out, she was running towards the river..."
- to describe an unfinished action that was interrupted by another event or action: "I was having a beautiful dream when the alarm clock rang."

- to express a change of mind: e.g. "I was going to spend the day at the beach but I've decided to go on an excursion instead."
- with 'wonder', to make a very polite request: e.g. "I was wondering if you could baby-sit for me tonight."

More examples:

- a. They were waiting for the bus when the accident happened.
- b. Caroline was skiing when she broke her leg.
- c. When we arrived he was having a bath.
- d. When the fire started I was watching television.

Note: with verbs not normally used in the continuous form, the simple past is used. See list in Present continuous

PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Present perfect continuous, form

The present perfect continuous is made up of two elements: (a) the present perfect of the verb 'to be' (have/has been), and (b) the present participle of the main verb (base+ing).

Subject	has/have been	base+ing
She	has been	swimming

Affirmative
She has been / She's been	running
Negative_
She hasn't been	running
Interrogative
Has she been	running?
Interrogative negative
Hasn't she been	running?

Example: to live, present perfect continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I have been living	I haven't been living	Have I been living?
You have been living	You haven't been living	Have you been living?
He, she, it has been living	He hasn't been living	Has she been living?
We have been living	We haven't been living	Have we been living?
You have been living	You haven't been living	Have you been living?
They have been living	They haven't been living	Have they been living?

Present perfect continuous, function

The present perfect continuous refers to an unspecified time between 'before now' and 'now'. The speaker is thinking about something that started but perhaps did not finish in that period of time. He/she is interested in the process as well as the result, and this process may still be going on, or may have just finished.

Examples:

- 1. Actions that started in the past and continue in the present.
- a. She has been waiting for you all day (=and she's still waiting now).
- b. I've been working on this report since eight o'clock this morning (=and I still haven't finished it).

- c. They have been travelling since last October (=and they're not home yet).
- 2. Actions that have just finished, but we are interested in the results:
- a. She has been cooking since last night (=and the food on the table looks delicious).
- b. It's been raining (= and the streets are still wet).
- c. Someone's been eating my chips (= half of them have gone).

Note:

Verbs without continuous forms

With verbs not normally used in the continuous form, use the present perfect simple. See list of these verbs under 'Present Continuous':

- I've wanted to visit China for years.
- She's known Robert since she was a child.
- I've hated that music since I first heard it.
- I've heard a lot about you recently.
- We've understood everything we've heard this morning.

TENSES

PRESENT PERFECT + for, since

Using the present perfect, we can define a period of time before now by considering its duration, with for + a period of time, or by considering its starting point, with since + a point in time.

For + a period of time:

for six years, for a week, for a month, for hours, for two hours.

I have worked here for five years.

Since + a point in time:

since this morning, since last week, since yesterday, since I was a child, since Wednesday, since 2 o'clock. I have worked here since 1990.

More examples:

present perfect with for:

- a. She has lived here for twenty years.
- b. We have taught at this school for a long time.
- c. Alice has been married for three months.
- d. They have been at the hotel for a week.

present perfect with since:

- a. She has lived here since 1980.
- b. We have taught at this school since 1965.
- c. Alice has been married since March 2nd.
- d. They have been at the hotel since last Tuesday.

Note:

- 1. For and since can both be used with the past perfect.
- 2. Since can only be used with perfect tenses, for can also be used with the simple past.

$|\underline{A}|\underline{B}|\underline{C}|\underline{D}|\underline{E}|\underline{F}|\underline{G}|\underline{H}|\underline{I}|\underline{J}|\underline{K}|\underline{L}|\underline{M}|\underline{N}|\underline{O}|\underline{P}|\underline{Q}|\underline{R}|\underline{S}|\underline{T}|\underline{U}|\underline{V}|\underline{W}|\underline{X}|\underline{Y}|\underline{Z}|$

PRESENT PERFECT OR SIMPLE PAST?

Always use the present perfect when the time is not important, or not specified.

Always use the simple past when details about the time or place are specified or asked for.

Compare:

Present perfect	Simple past
I have lived in Lyon.	I lived in Lyon in 1989 .
They have eaten Thai food.	They ate Thai food last night.
Have you seen 'Othello'?.	Where did you see 'Othello'?
We have been to Ireland.	When did you go to Ireland?

There is also a difference of attitude that is often more important than the time factor.

"What did you do at school today?" is a question about activities, and considers the school day as finished.

"What have you done at school today?" is a question about results - "show me", and regards the time of speaking as a continuation of the school day.

PRESENT CONTINUOUS FOR FUTURE EVENTS

1. Present continuous for the future, form See notes on form in section on Present Continuous.

Subject	+ to be	+ base- ing
She	is	meeting

2. Future: Present continuous for the future, function

The present continuous is used to talk about arrangements for events at a time later than now.

There is a suggestion that more than one person is aware of the event, and that some preparation has already happened. e.g.

- a. I'm meeting Jim at the airport = and both Jim and I have discussed this.
- b. I am leaving tomorrow. = and I've already bought my train ticket.
- c. We're having a staff meeting next Monday = and all members of staff have been told about it.

More examples:

- a. Is she seeing him tomorrow?
- b. He isn't working next week.
- c. They aren't leaving until the end of next year.
- d. We are staying with friends when we get to Boston.

Note: in example (a), seeing is used in a continuous form because it means meeting.

BE CAREFUL! The simple present is used when a future event is part of a programme or time-table. Notice the difference between:

- a. We're having a staff meeting next Monday.
- b. We have a staff meeting next Monday. (= we have a meeting every Monday, it's on the time-table.)

PRESENT PERFECT

1. Present perfect - form

The present perfect of any verb is composed of two elements: the appropriate form of the auxiliary verb to have (present tense), plus the past participle of the main verb. The past participle of a regular verb is base+ed, e.g. played, arrived, looked. For irregular verbs, see the Table of irregular verbs in the section called 'Verbs'.

Affirmative
Subject	to have	past participle
She	has	visited
Negative_
Subject	to have + not	past participle
She	hasn't	visited
Interrogative	-
to have	subject	past participle
Has	she	visited?
Interrogative	negative_
to have + not	subject	past participle
Hasn't	she	visited?

Example: to walk, present perfect

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I have walked	I haven't walked	Have I walked?
You have walked	You haven't walked	Have you walked?
He, she, it has walked	He, she, it hasn't walked	Has he,she,it walked
We have walked	We haven't walked	Have we walked?
You have walked	You haven't walked	Have you walked?
They have walked	They haven't walked	Have they walked?

2. Present perfect, function

The Present Perfect is used to indicate a link between the present and the past. The time of the action is before now but not specified, and we are often more interested in the result than in the action itself.

BE CAREFUL! There may be a verb tense in your language with a similar form, but the meaning is probably NOT the same.

The present perfect is used to describe:

1.An action or situation that started in the past and continues in the present. Example: I have lived in Bristol since 1984 (= and I still do.)

- 2. An action performed during a period that has not yet finished. Example: She has been to the cinema twice this week (= and the week isn't over yet.)
- 3. A repeated action in an unspecified period between the past and now. Example: We have visited Portugal several times.
- 4. An action that was completed in the very recent past, (expressed by 'just'). Example: I have just finished my work.
- 5. An action when the time is not important. Example: He has read 'War and Peace'. (the result of his reading is important)

Note: When we want to give or ask details about when, where, who, we use the simple past. Example: He read 'War and Peace' last week.

Examples:

- 1. Actions started in the past and continuing in the present.
- a. They haven't lived here for years.
- b. She has worked in the bank for five years.
- c. We have had the same car for ten years.
- d. Have you played the piano since you were a child?
- 2. When the time period referred to has not finished.
- a. I have worked hard this week.
- b. It has rained a lot this year.
- c. We haven't seen her today.
- 3. Actions repeated in an unspecified period between the past and now.
- a. They have seen that film six times.
- b. It has happened several times already.
- c. She has visited them frequently.
- d. We have eaten at that restaurant many times.
- 4. Actions completed in the very recent past (+just).
- a. Have you just finished work?
- b. I have just eaten.
- c. We have just seen her.
- d. Has he just left?
- 5. When the precise time of the action is not important or not known.
- a. Someone has eaten my soup!
- b. Have you seen 'Gone with the Wind'?
- c. She's studied Japanese, Russian and English.

'IF' SENTENCES AND THE 'UNREAL' PAST

In this section you will find information on sentences containing the word 'if', the use of conditional tenses, and the 'unreal past', that is, when we use a past tense but we are not actually referring to past time.

IF AND THE CONDITIONAL

There are four main types of 'if' sentences in English:

1. The 'zero' conditional, where the tense in both parts of the sentence is the simple present:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + simple present If you heat ice If it rains	simple present it melts. you get wet

In these sentences, the time is now or always and the situation is real and possible. They are often used to refer to general truths.

2. The Type 1 conditional, where the tense in the 'if clause is the simple present, and the tense in the main clause is the simple future

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + simple present If it rains If you don't hurry	Simple future you will get wet we will miss the train.

In these sentences, the time is the present or future and the situation is real. They refer to a possible condition and its probable result.

3. The Type 2 conditional, where the tense in the 'if' clause is the simple past, and the tense in the main clause is the present conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + simple past If it rained If you went to bed earlier	Present conditional you would get wet you wouldn't be so tired.

In these sentences, the time is now or any time, and the situation is unreal. They are not based on fact, and they refer to an unlikely or hypothetical condition and its probable result.

4. The Type 3 conditional, where the tense in the 'if' clause is the past perfect, and the tense in the main clause is the perfect conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + past perfect If it had rained If you had worked harder	Perfect conditional you would have got wet you would have passed the exam.

In these sentences, the time is past, and the situation is contrary to reality. The facts they are based on are the opposite of what is expressed, and they refer to an unreal past condition and its probable past result.

A further type if 'if' sentence exists, where Type 2 and Type 3 are mixed. The tense in the 'if' clause is the past perfect, and the tense in the main clause is the present conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + past perfect If I had worked harder at school If we had looked at the map	Present conditional I would have a better job now. we wouldn't be lost.

In these sentences, the time is past in the 'if' clause, and present in the main clause. They refer to an unreal past condition and its probable result in the present.

TYPE 1 CONDITIONAL

1. Form

In a Type 1 conditional sentence, the tense in the 'if clause is the simple present, and the tense in the main clause is the simple future

'IF' CLAUSE (CONDITION)	MAIN CLAUSE (RESULT)
If + simple present	Simple future
If it rains	you will get wet
If you don't hurry	we will miss the train.

2. Function

In these sentences, the time is the present or future and the situation is real. They refer to a possible condition and its probable result. They are based on facts, and they are used to make statements about the real world, and about particular situations. We often use such sentences to give warnings:

- If you don't leave, I'll call the police.
- If you don't drop the gun, I'll shoot!

Examples:

- If you drop that glass, it will break.
- Nobody will notice if you make a mistake.
- If I have time, I'll finish that letter.
- What will you do if you miss the plane?

NOTE: We can use modals to express the degree of certainty of the result:

- If you drop that glass, it might break.
- I may finish that letter if I have time.

TYPE 2 CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

1. Form

In a Type 2 conditional sentence, the tense in the 'if' clause is the simple past, and the tense in the main clause is the present conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + simple past	Present conditional
If it rained	you would get wet
If you went to bed earlier	you wouldn't be so tired.

Present conditional, form

The present conditional of any verb is composed of two parts - the modal auxiliary would + the infinitive of the main verb (without 'to'.)

Subject	would	infinitive without to
She	would	learn

Affirmative
1	would	go
Negative
I	wouldn't	ask
Interrogative_
Would	she	come?
Interrogative negative
Wouldn't	they	accept?

Would: Contractions of would

In spoken English, would is contracted to 'd.

I'd	We'd
you'd	you'd
he'd, she'd	they'd

The negative contraction = wouldn't.

Example: to accept, Present conditional

Affirmative	Negative_	Interrogative_
I would accept	I wouldn't accept	Would I accept?

You would accept	You wouldn't accept	Would you accept?
He would accept	She wouldn't accept	Would he accept?
We would accept	We wouldn't accept	Would we accept?
You would accept	You wouldn't accept	Would you accept?
They would accept	They wouldn't accept	Would they accept?

2. Function

In these sentences, the time is now or any time, and the situation is unreal. They are not based on fact, and they refer to an unlikely or hypothetical condition and its probable result. The use of the past tense after 'if' indicates unreality. We can nearly always add a phrase starting with "but", that expresses the real situation:

- If the weather wasn't so bad, we would go to the park (...but it is bad, so we can't go)
- If I was the Queen of England, I would give everyone £100. (...but I'm not, so I won't)

Examples of use:

1. To make a statement about something that is not real at present, but is possible:

I would visit her if I had time. (= I haven't got time but I might have some time)

2. To make a statement about a situation that is not real now and never could be real:

If I were you, I'd give up smoking (but I could never be you)

Examples:

- a. If I was a plant, I would love the rain.
- b. If you really loved me, you would buy me a diamond ring.
- c. If I knew where she lived, I would go and see her.
- d. You wouldn't need to read this if you understood English grammar.
- e. Would he go to the concert if I gave him a ticket?
- f. They wouldn't invite her if they didn't like her
- g. We would be able to buy a larger house if we had more money

NOTE: It is correct, and very common, to say "If I were" instead of "If I was".

TYPE 3 CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

1. Form

In a Type 3 conditional sentence, the tense in the 'if' clause is the past perfect, and the tense in the main clause is the perfect conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + past perfect If it had rained If you had worked harder	Perfect conditional you would have got wet you would have passed the exam.

Perfect conditional - form

The perfect conditional of any verb is composed of two elements: would + the perfect infinitive of the main verb (=have + past participle):

Subject	would	perfect infinitive
He	would would	have gone
They	would	have stayed
Affirmative
I	would	have believed
Negative
She	wouldn't	have given
Interrogative
Would	you	have left?
Interrogative negative_
Wouldn't	he	have been?

Example: to go, Past conditional

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I would have gone	I wouldn't have gone	Would I have gone?
You would have gone	You wouldn't have gone	Would you have gone?
He would have gone	She wouldn't have gone	Would it have gone?
We would have gone	We wouldn't have gone	Would we have gone?
You would have gone	You wouldn't have gone	Would you have gone?
They would have gone	They wouldn't have gone	Would they have gone?

In these sentences, the time is past, and the situation is contrary to reality. The facts they are based on are the opposite of what is expressed.

Type 3 conditional sentences, are truly hypothetical or unreal, because it is now too late for the condition or its result to exist. There is always an unspoken "but..." phrase:

• If I had worked harder I would have passed the exam (but I didn't work hard, and I didn't pass the exam).

 If I'd known you were coming I'd have baked a cake (but I didn't know, and I haven't baked a cake).

NOTE: Both would and had can be contracted to 'd, which can be confusing. Remember that you NEVER use would in the IF-clause, so in the example above, "If I'd known" must be "If I had known", and "I'd have baked" must be "I would have baked.."

Examples:

- a. If I'd known you were in hospital, I would have visited you.
- b. I would have bought you a present if I'd known it was your birthday.
- c. If they'd had a better goalkeeper they wouldn't have lost the game.
- d. If you had told me you were on the Internet, I'd have sent you an e-mail.
- e. Would you have bought an elephant if you'd known how much they eat?

SIMPLE PRESENT

(See also Verbs -'Regular verbs in the simple present')

Simple present, third person singular

Note:

- 1. he, she, it: in the third person singular the verb always ends in -s: he wants, she needs, he gives, she thinks.
- Negative and question forms use DOES (=the third person of the auxiliary'DO') + the infinitive of the verb.
 He wants. Does he want? He does not want.

4. Add -es to verbs ending in:-ss, -x, -sh, -ch: he passes, she catches, he fixes, it pushes

See also Verbs -'Regular verbs in the simple present', and 'Be, do & have'

Examples:

- 1. Third person singular with s or -es
- a. He goes to school every morning.
- b. She understands English.
- c. It mixes the sand and the water.
- d. He tries very hard.
- e. She enjoys playing the piano.
- 2. Simple present, form

Example: to think, present simple

Affirmative	Interrogative	Negative
I think	Do I think?	I do not think.
You think	Do you think?	You don't think.
he, she, it thinks	Does he, she, it think?	He, she, it doesn't think.
we think	Do we think?	We don't think.
you think	Do you think?	You don't think.

The simple present is used:

 to express habits, general truths, repeated actions or unchanging situations, emotions and wishes:
 I smoke (habit); I work in London (unchanging situation); London is a large city (general truth)

2. to give instructions or directions:

You walk for two hundred metres, then you turn left.

- 3. to express fixed arrangements, present or future: Your exam starts at 09.00
- 4. to express future time, after some conjunctions: after, when, before, as soon as, until:

 He'll give it to you when you come next Saturday.

BE CAREFUL! The simple present is not used to express actions happening now. See Present Continuous.

Examples:

1. For habits

He drinks tea at breakfast. She only eats fish. They watch television regularly.

2. For repeated actions or events

We catch the bus every morning. It rains every afternoon in the hot season. They drive to Monaco every summer.

3. For general truths

Water freezes at zero degrees. The Earth revolves around the Sun. Her mother is Peruvian.

4. For instructions or directions

Open the packet and pour the contents into hot water. You take the No.6 bus to Watney and then the No.10 to Bedford.

5. For fixed arrangements

His mother arrives tomorrow. Our holiday starts on the 26th March

6. With future constructions

She'll see you before she leaves. We'll give it to her when she arrives.

Present continuous conditional: He would be getting up now if he was in Australia

Perfect conditional: She would have visited me if she had had time.

Perfect continuous conditional: I would have been playing tennis if I hadn't broken my arm.

FUTURE PERFECT

Future perfect, form

The future perfect is composed of two elements: the simple future of the verb to have (will have) + the past participle of the main verb:

Subject	will have	past participle
Не	will have	finished

Affirmative

I will have left

Negative

They won't have gone

Interrogative

Will we have seen?

Interrogative negative

Won't he have arrived?

Example: to arrive, future perfect

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I'll have arrived	I won't have arrived	Will I have arrived?
You'll have arrived	You won't have arrived	Will you have arrived?
He'll have arrived	She won't have arrived	Will it have arrived?
We'll have arrived	We won't have arrived	Will we have arrived?
You'll have arrived	You won't have arrived	Will you have arrived?
They'll have arrived	They won't have arrived	Will they have arrived?

Future perfect, function

The future perfect refers to a completed action in the future. When we use this tense we are projecting ourselves forward into the future and looking back at an action that will be completed some time later than now. It is often used with a time expression using by + a point in future time.

Examples:

- a. I'll have been here for six months on June 23rd.
- b. By the time you read this I'll have left.
- c. You will have finished your work by this time next week.

FUTURE PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Future perfect continuous, form

This form is composed of two elements: the future perfect of the verb to be (will have been) + the present participle of the main verb (base+ing):

Subject	will have been	base+ing
We	will have been	living

Affirmative
l	will have been	working
Negative
I	won't have been	working
Interrogative
Will	I have been	working?
Interrogative negative
Won't	I have been	working?

Example: to live, Future Perfect continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I'll have been living	I won't have been living	Will I have been living?
You'll have been living	You won't have been living	Will you have been living?
He'll have been living	He won't have been living	Will she have been living?
We'll have been living	We won't have been living	Will we have been living?
You'll have been living	You won't have been living	Will you have been living?
They'll have been living	They won't have been living	Will they have been living?

Future perfect continuous, function

Like the future perfect simple, this form is used to project ourselves forward in time and to look back. It refers to events or actions in a time between now and some future time, that may be unfinished.

Examples:

- a. I will have been waiting here for three hours by six o'clock.
- b. By 2001 I will have been living here for sixteen years.
- c. By the time I finish this course, I will have been learning English for twenty years.
- d. Next year I will have been working here for four years.

TENSES

FUTURE CONTINUOUS

Future continuous, form

The future continuous is made up of two elements: the simple future of the verb 'to be' + the present participle (base+ing)

Subject	simple future, 'to be'	base+ing
You	will be	watching

Affirmative

I will be asking

Negative

She won't be leaving

Interrogative

Will they be retiring?

Interrogative negative

Won't we be staying?

Example: to stay, future continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I will be staying	I won't be staying	Will I be staying?
You will be staying	You won't be staying	Will you be staying?
He, she, it will be staying	He won't be staying	Will she be staying?
We will be staying	We won't be staying	Will we be staying?
You will be staying	You won't be staying	Will you be staying?
They will be staying	They won't be staying	Will they be staying?

Future continuous, function

The future continuous refers to an unfinished action or event that will be in progress at a time later than now. It is used:

- a. to project ourselves into the future and see something happening: This time next week I will be sun-bathing in Bali.
- b. to refer to actions/events that will happen in the normal course of events: I'll be seeing Jim at the conference next week.
- c. in the interrogative form, especially with 'you', to distinguish between a simple request for information and an invitation: Will you be coming to the party tonight? (= request for information) Will you come to the party? (= invitation)
- d. to predict or guess about someone's actions or feelings, now or in the future: You'll be feeling tired after that long walk, I expect.

More examples:

a. events in progress in the future:

When you are in Australia will you be staying with friends? This time next week you will be working in your new job. At four thirty on Tuesday afternoon I will be signing the contract.

b. events/actions in normal course of events:

I'll be going into town this afternoon, is there anything you want from the shops?

Will you be using the car tomorrow? - No, you can take it. I'll be seeing Jane this evening - I'll give her the message.

c. asking for information:

Will you be bringing your friend to the pub tonight? Will Jim be coming with us?

d. predicting or guessing:

You'll be feeling thirsty after working in the sun.

He'll be coming to the meeting, I expect.

You'll be missing the sunshine now you're back in England.

TENSES

PRESENT PERFECT + ever, never, already, yet

The adverbs ever and never express the idea of an unidentified time before now e.g. Have you ever visited Berlin?

'Ever' is used

- a. in questions. e.g. Have you ever been to England? Has she ever met the Prime Minister?
- b. in negative questions e.g.
 Haven't they ever been to Europe?
 Haven't you ever eaten Chinese food?
- c. and in negative statements using the pattern nothing......ever, nobody.....ever e.g. Nobody has ever said that to me before. Nothing like this has ever happened to us.
- d. 'Ever' is also used with 'The first time.... e.g. It's the first time (that) I've ever eaten snails. This is the first time I've ever been to England.

'Never' means at no time before now, and is the same as not ever: I have never visited Berlin

BE CAREFUL!

You must not use never and not together:

I haven't never been to Italy.
I have never been to Italy.

Position: 'Ever' and 'never' are always placed before the main verb (past participle).

Already and yet:

Already refers to an action that has happened at an unspecified time before now. It suggests that there is no need for repetition, e.g.

- a. I've already drunk three coffees this morning. (and you're offering me another one!)
- b. Don't write to John, I've already done it.

It is also used in questions:

- a. Have you already written to John?
- b. Has she finished her homework already?

Position: already can be placed before the main verb (past participle) or at the end of the sentence:

- a. I have already been to Tokyo.
- b. I have been to Tokyo already.

yet is used in negative statements and questions, to mean (not) in the period of time between before now and now, (not) up to and including the present. e.g.

- a. Have you met Judy yet?
- b. I haven't visited the Tate Gallery yet.
- c. Has he arrived yet?
- d. They haven't eaten yet.

Position: Yet is usually placed at the end of the sentence.

Introduction

It is important to understand the meaning and use of tenses in English. The form may be like that of a tense in your own language, but the meaning may be different, so be very careful!

UNREAL PAST

The past tense is sometimes used in English to refer to an 'unreal' situation. So, although the tense is the past, we are usually talking about the present, e.g. in a Type 2 conditional sentence:

If an elephant and a mouse fell in love, they would have many problems.

Although fell is in the past tense, we are talking about a hypothetical situation that might exist now or at any time, but we are not referring to the past. We call this use the unreal past.

Other situations where this occurs are:

- after other words and expressions like 'if' (supposing, if only, what if);
- after the verb 'to wish';
- after the expression 'I'd rather..'

Expressions like 'if'

The following expressions can be used to introduce hypothetical situations: - supposing, if only, what if. They are followed by a past tense to indicate that the condition they introduce is unreal:

- Supposing an elephant and a mouse fell in love? (= but we know this is unlikely or impossible)
- What if we painted the room purple? (= that would be very surprising)
- If only I had more money. (= but I haven't).

These expressions can also introduce hypothetical situations in the past and then they are followed by the past perfect.

Examples:

- If only I hadn't kissed the frog (= I did and it was a mistake because he turned into a horrible prince, but I can't change it now.)
- What if the elephant had trodden on the mouse? (She didn't, but we can imagine the result!)
- Supposing I had given that man my money! (I didn't, so I've still got my money now.)

The verb to wish

The verb to wish is followed by an 'unreal' past tense when we want to talk about situations in the present that we are not happy about but cannot change:

- I wish I had more money (=but I haven't)
- She wishes she was beautiful (= but she's not)
- We wish we could come to your party (but we can't)

When we want to talk about situations in the past that we are not happy about or actions that we regret, we use the verb to wish followed by the past perfect:

- I wish I hadn't said that (= but I did)
- He wishes he hadn't bought the car (= but he did buy it.)
- I wish I had taken that job in New York (= but I didn't, so I'm stuck in Bristol)

NOTE: When we want to talk about situations we are not happy about and where we want someone else to change them, we use to wish followed by would + infinitive:

- I wish he would stop smoking. (= I don't like it, I want him to change it)
- I wish you would go away. (= I don't want you here, I want you to take some action)
- I wish you wouldn't squeeze the toothpaste from the middle! (= I want you to change your habits.)

I'd rather and it's time...

These two expressions are also followed by an unreal past. The verb is in the past tense, but the situation is in the present.

When we want to talk about a course of action we would prefer someone else to take, we use I'd rather + past tense:

- I'd rather you went
- He'd rather you called the police
- I'd rather you didn't hunt elephants.

NOTE: the stress can be important in these sentences, to show what our preference is:

- I'd rather you went = not me,
- I'd rather you went = don't stay
- He'd rather you called the police = he doesn't want to
- He'd rather you called the police = not the ambulance service

Similarly, when we want to say that now is a suitable moment to do something, either for ourselves or for someone else, we use it's time + past tense:

- It's (high) time I went.
- It's time you paid that bill.
- Don't you think it's time you had a haircut?

$|\underline{A}|\underline{B}|\underline{C}|\underline{D}|\underline{E}|\underline{F}|\underline{G}|\underline{H}|\underline{I}|\underline{J}|\underline{K}|\underline{L}|\underline{M}|\underline{N}|\underline{O}|\underline{P}|\underline{O}|\underline{R}|\underline{S}|\underline{T}|\underline{U}|\underline{V}|\underline{W}|\underline{X}|\underline{Y}|\underline{Z}|$

UNLESS

Unless means the same as if...not. Like if, it is followed by a present tense, a past tense or a past perfect (never by 'would'). It is used instead of if + not in conditional sentences of all types:

Type 1: (Unless + present)

- a. You'll be sick unless you stop eating. (= You will be sick if you don't stop eating)
- b. I won't pay unless you provide the goods immediately. (= If you don't provide them I won't pay)
- c. You'll never understand English unless you study this grammar carefully. (= You'll never understand if you don't study...)

Type 2: (Unless + past)

- a. Unless he was very ill, he would be at work.
- b. I wouldn't eat that food unless I was really hungry.
- c. She would be here by now unless she was stuck in the traffic.

Type 3: (Unless + past perfect)

- a. The elephant wouldn't have seen the mouse unless she'd had perfect eyesight.
- b. I wouldn't have phoned him unless you'd suggested it.
- c. They would have shot her unless she'd given them the money.

MIXED CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

It is possible for the two parts of a conditional sentence to refer to different times, and the resulting sentence is a "mixed conditional" sentence. There are two types of mixed conditional sentence:

A. Present result of past condition:

1. Form

The tense in the 'if' clause is the past perfect, and the tense in the main clause is the present conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + past perfect If I had worked harder at school If we had looked at the map	Present conditional I would have a better job now. we wouldn't be lost.

2. Function

In these sentences, the time is past in the 'if' clause, and present in the main clause. They refer to an unreal past condition and its probable result in the present. They express a situation which is contrary to reality both in the past and in the present:

'If I had worked harder at school' is contrary to past fact - I didn't work hard at school, and 'I would have a better job now' is contrary to present fact - I haven't got a good job.

If we had looked at the map (we didn't), we wouldn't be lost (we are lost).

Examples:

- I would be a millionaire now if I had taken that job.
- If you'd caught that plane you'd be dead now.
- If you hadn't spent all your money on CDs, you wouldn't be broke.

B. Past result of present or continuing condition.

1. Form

The tense in the If-clause is the simple past, and the tense in the main clause is the perfect conditional:

'IF' CLAUSE	MAIN CLAUSE
If + simple past	Perfect conditional
If I wasn't afraid of	I would have picked it up.
spiders	we would have sacked him months
If we didn't trust him	ago.

2. Function

In these sentences the time in the If-clause is now or always, and the time in the main clause is before now. They refer to an unreal present situation and its probable (but unreal) past result:

'If I wasn't afraid of spiders' is contrary to present reality - I am afraid of spiders, and 'I would have picked it up' is contrary to past reality - I didn't pick it up.

'If we didn't trust him' is contrary to present reality - we do trust him, and 'we would have sacked him' is contrary to past reality - we haven't sacked him.

Examples:

- a. If she wasn't afraid of flying she wouldn't have travelled by boat.
- b. I'd have been able to translate the letter if my Italian was better.
- c. If I was a good cook, I'd have invited them to lunch.
- d. If the elephant wasn't in love with the mouse, she'd have trodden on him by now.

Would I have been working? Would you have been working? Would he have been working?	Wouldn't I have been working? Wouldn't you have been working? Wouldn't she have been working?

2. Function

This tense can be used in Type 3 conditional sentences. It refers to the unfulfilled result of the action in the if-clause, and expresses this result as an unfinished or continuous action. Again, there is always an unspoken "but.." phrase:

- If the weather had been better (but it wasn't), I'd have been sitting in the garden when he arrived (but I wasn't and so I didn't see him).
- If she hadn't got a job in London (but she did), she would have been working in Paris (but she wasn't).

Examples:

- If I'd had a ball I would have been playing football.
- If I'd had any money I'd have been drinking with my friends in the pub that night.
- If I had known it was dangerous I wouldn't have been climbing that cliff.
- She wouldn't have been wearing a seat-belt if her father hadn't told her to.

PRESENT CONTINUOUS CONDITIONAL

In type 2 conditional sentences, the continuous form of the present conditional may be used:

If I were a millionaire, I wouldn't be doing this job!

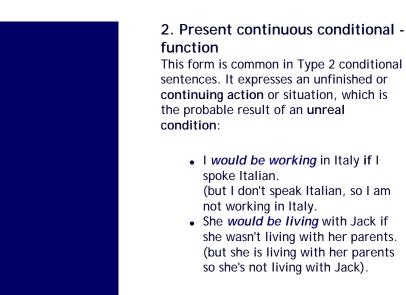

1. Present continuous conditional - form.

This form is composed of two elements: the present conditional of the verb 'to be' (would be) + the present participle of the main verb (base+ing).

Subject	would be	base+ing
He	would be	going
They	would be	living
Affirmative
We	would be	coming
Negative
You	wouldn't be	working
Interrogative)
Would	you be	sharing?
Interrogative	e negative
Wouldn't	they be	playing?

Example: to live, Present continuous conditional.

Affirmative_	Negative	Interrogative_
I would be living	I wouldn't be living	Would I be living?
You would be living	You wouldn't be living	Would you be living?
He would be living	She wouldn't be living	Would he be living?
We would be living	We wouldn't be living	Would we be living?
You would be living	You wouldn't be living	Would you be living?
They would be living	They wouldn't be living	Would they be living?

More examples:

- I wouldn't be eating this if I wasn't extremely hungry.
- If I had an exam tomorrow, I'd be revising now.
- You wouldn't be smiling if you knew the truth.

NOTE: This form is also found in: mixed conditional sentences (See section on Mixed Conditional Sentences); in indirect speech:

She said "I'll be working in the garden."

She said she would be working in the garden. (See section on Indirect Speech)

TENSES

SIMPLE PRESENT FOR FUTURE EVENTS

- 1. Form see Simple Present section.
- 2. Simple present for future events function

The simple present is used to make statements about events at a time later than now, when the statements are based on present facts, and when these facts are something fixed like a time-table, schedule, calendar.

Examples:

- a. The plane arrives at 18.00 tomorrow.
- b. She has a yoga class tomorrow morning.
- c. The restaurant opens at 19.30 tonight.
- d. Next Thursday at 14.00 there is an English exam.

Note the difference between:

- a. The plane leaves in ten minutes (= statement of fact)
- b. The plane's going to leave in ten minutes (= prediction based on present situation, meaning "...and if you don't hurry up you're going to miss it!")

TENSES

OTHER WAYS OF TALKING ABOUT THE FUTURE

1. IS TO + INFINITIVE

to be to

they to

Form:

Subject

This form is composed of two elements: the appropriate form of the verb to be + to (am to, are to, is to), and the infinitive of the main verb without 'to'..

infinitive without to

We	are to	leave
Affirma	tive
She	is to	travel
Negativ	e
You	are not (aren't) to	travel
Interro	gative
Am	I to	travel?
Interrogative negative

Function:

Aren't

This form refers to an obligation to do something at a time later than now. It is similar to 'must', but there is a suggestion that something has been arranged or organised for us. It is not normally used in spoken English, but might be found in spy stories, e.g.

travel?

"You are to leave this room at once, and you are to travel by train to London. In London you are to pick up your ticket from Mr Smith, and you are to fly to your destination alone. When you arrive, you are to meet our agent, Mr X, who will give you further information. You are to destroy this message now."

2. BE + ABOUT TO + INFINITIVE

Form:

This form is composed of three elements: the appropriate form of the verb to be, present tense, + 'about to' + the infinitive of the main verb without 'to':

Subject	be	about to	infinitive without to
I	am	about to	leave

She is about to arrive

Function:

This form refers to a time immediately after the moment of speaking, and emphasises that the event or action will happen very soon:

Examples:

- a. She is about to leave.
- b. You are about to see something very unusual.
- c. I am about to go to a meeting can I talk to you later?

It is often used with the word 'just', which emphasises the immediacy of the action:

We are just about to go to sleep. Sally is just about to take an exam.

This form can also be used in the simple past tense to refer to an action that was imminent, but was interrupted. In such cases it is often followed by a 'when - clause':

She was about to leave when he arrived.

I was just about to telephone her when she walked into the house.

TENSES

FUTURE WITH GOING TO

1. Future with Going to - form_

This form is composed of three elements: the appropriate form of the verb 'to be' + going to + the infinitive of the main verb:

Subject	'to be'	going to	infinitive
She	is	going to	leave

2. Future with Going to - function

The use of 'going to' to refer to future events suggests a very strong association with the present. The time is not important - it is later than now, but the attitude is that the event depends on a present situation, that we know about. So it is used:

a) to refer to our plans and intentions:

We're going to move to London next year. (= the plan is in our minds now.)

b) to make predictions based on present evidence:

Look at those clouds - it's going to pour with rain! (= It's clear from what I can see now.)

Note: In everyday speech, 'going to' is often shortened to 'gonna', especially in American English.

More examples:

Plans and intentions:

- a. Is Freddy going to buy a new car soon?
- b. Are John and Pam going to visit Milan when they are in Italy?
- c. I think Nigel and Mary are going to have a party next week.

Predictions based on present evidence:

- a. There's going to be a terrible accident!
- b. He's going to be a brilliant politician.
- c. I'm going to have terrible indigestion.

NOTE: It is unusual to say 'I'm going to go to...' Instead, we use 'going to' + a place or event:

Examples:

We are going to the beach tomorrow.

She is going to the ballet tonight.

Are you going to the party tomorrow night?

NOUNS

COUNTABLE AND UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

Countable nouns are for things we can count

Example: dog, horse, man, shop, idea.

They usually have a singular and plural form.

Example: two dogs, ten horses, a man, six men, the shops, a few ideas.

Uncountable nouns are for the things that we cannot count

Example: tea, sugar, water, air, rice.

They are often the names for abstract ideas or qualities.

Example: knowledge, beauty, anger, fear, love.

They are used with a singular verb. They usually do not have a plural form. We cannot say sugars, angers, knowledges.

Examples of common uncountable nouns:

money, furniture, happiness, sadness, research, evidence, safety, beauty, knowledge.

We cannot use a/an with these nouns. To express a quantity of one of these nouns, use a word or expression like: some, a lot of, a piece of, a bit of, a great deal of...

Examples:

- There has been a lot of research into the causes of this disease.
- He gave me a great deal of advice before my interview.
- They've got a lot of furniture.
- Can you give me some information about uncountable nouns?

Some nouns are countable in other languages but uncountable in English. Some of the most common of these are:

accommodation news advice progress baggage traffic behaviour travel bread trouble furniture weather information work
luggage

BE CAREFUL with the noun 'hair' which is normally uncountable in English:

She has long blonde hair

It can also be countable when referring to individual hairs:

My father's getting a few grey hairs now

REPORTED SPEECH

CHANGE OF TIME AND PLACE REFERENCE

Time/place references are also changed in reported speech

Examples:

The most common of these changes are shown below:

Other changes:

In general, personal pronouns change to the third person singular or plural, except when the speaker reports his own words:

l/me/my/mine, you/your/yours >--- him/his/her/hers
we/us/our/ours, you/your/yours >--- they/their/theirs:

He said: "I like your new car."
He told her that he liked her new car.

I said: "I'm going to my friend's house."
I said that I was going to my friend's house.

I said: "I'm going to my friend's house."
I said that I was going to my friend's house.

I said: "I'm going to my friend's house."
I said that I was going to my friend's my friend's house.

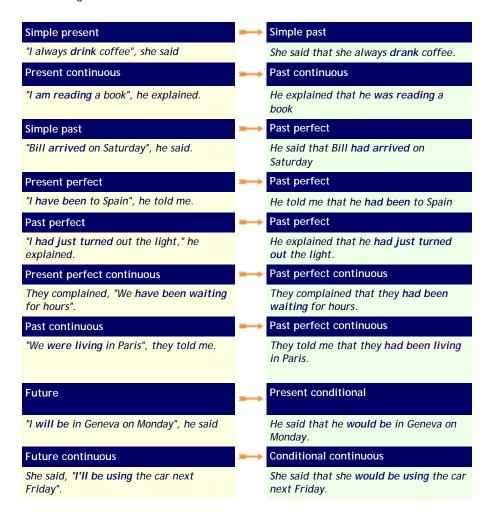

REPORTED SPEECH

TENSE CHANGES

Normally, the tense in reported speech is one tense back in time from the tense in direct speech:

She said, "I am tired." ----- She said that she was tired.

NOTE:

1. You do not need to change the tense if the reporting verb is in the present, or if the original statement was about something that is still true, e.g.

He says he has missed the train but he'll catch the next one. We explained that it is very difficult to find our house.

2. These modal verbs do not change in reported speech:

might, could, would, should, ought to, e.g.

We explained that it could be difficult to find our house. She said that she might bring a friend to the party.

THE INFINITIVE

INFINITIVE AFTER QUESTION WORDS

These verbs: ask, decide, explain, forget, know, show, tell, understand, can be followed by a question word such as where, how, what, who, when or 'whether' + the 'to-infinitive'.

Examples:

- She asked me how to use the washing machine.
- Do you understand what to do?
- Tell me when to press the button.
- I've forgotten where to put this little screw.
- I can't decide whether to wear the red dress or the black one.

The question word Why is followed by the zero infinitive in suggestions:

Examples:

- Why wait until tomorrow?
- Why not ask him now?
- Why walk when we can go in the car?
- Why not buy a new bed for your bedroom?
- Why leave before the end of the game?
- Why not spend a week in Beirut and a week in Baghdad?

THE INFINITIVE

NEGATIVE INFINITIVE_

To form the negative infinitive, place not before the to- or zero infinitive: e.g. not to worry:

It's hard not to worry about exams.

Examples:

- I decided not to go to London.
- He asked me not to be late.
- Elephants ought not to marry mice.
- You'd better not smile at the crocodile.
- I'd rather not eat meat.

THE INFINITIVE

OTHER FORMS

The infinitive can have the following forms:

- The perfect infinitive
- The continuous infinitive
- The perfect continuous infinitive
- The passive infinitive

NOTE: as with the present infinitive, there are situations where the to is omitted, e.g. after most modal auxiliaries.

The perfect infinitive:

to have + past participle, e.g. to have broken, to have seen, to have saved.

This form is most commonly found in Type 3 conditional sentences, using the conditional perfect, e.g. If I had known you were coming I would have baked a cake.

Examples:

- Someone must have broken the window and climbed in.
- I would like to have seen the Taj Mahal when I was in India.
- He pretended to have seen the film.
- If I'd seen the ball I would have caught it.

The continuous infinitive:

to be + present participle, e.g. to be swimming, to be joking, to be waiting

Examples:

- I'd really like to be swimming in a nice cool pool right now.
- You must be joking!
- I happened to be waiting for the bus when the accident happened.

The perfect continuous infinitive:

to have been + present participle

Examples:

to have been crying to have been waiting to have been painting

- The woman seemed to have been crying.
- You must have been waiting for hours!
- He pretended to have been painting all day.

The passive infinitive:

to be + past participle, e.g. to be given, to be shut, to be opened

Examples:

- I am expecting to be given a pay-rise next month.
- These doors should be shut.
- This window ought to be opened.

THE INFINITIVE

FUNCTION

The most common uses of the infinitive are:

To indicate the purpose or intention of an action (where the 'to' has the same meaning as 'in order to' or 'so as to'):

- She's gone to collect her pay cheque.
- The three bears went into the forest to find firewood.

As the subject of the sentence:

- To be or not to be, that is the question.
- To know her is to love her. (Note: this is more common in written English than spoken)

With nouns or pronouns, to indicate what something can be used for, or what is to be done with it:

- Would you like something to drink?
- I haven't anything to wear.
- The children need a garden to play in.

After adjectives in these patterns:

- It is + adjective +to-infinitive It is good to talk
- It is + adjective + infinitive + for someone + toinfinitive.

It is hard for elephants to see mice

 It is + adjective + infinitive + of someone + toinfinitive.

It is unkind of her to say that.

After an adjective + noun when a comment or judgement is being made:

- It was a stupid place to park the car.
- This is the right thing to do.
- It was an astonishing way to behave.

With too and enough in these patterns:

too much/many (+ noun) + to-infinitive There's too much sugar to put in this bowl. I had too many books to carry. too + adjective + to-infinitive
This soup is too hot to eat.
She was too tired to work.

too + adverb + to-infinitive
He arrived too late to see the actors.

enough (+ noun) + to-infinitive
I've had enough (food) to eat.

adjective + enough + to-infinitive
She's old enough to make up her own mind.

not enough (+noun) + to-infinitive
There isn't enough snow to ski on.

not + adjective + enough + to-infinitive
You're not old enough to have grandchildren!

DIRECT AND REPORTED SPEECH

You can answer the question "What did he/she say?" in two ways:

- by repeating the words spoken (direct speech)
- by reporting the words spoken (indirect or reported speech).

Direct Speech

Direct speech repeats, or quotes, the exact words spoken. When we use direct speech in writing, we place the words spoken between inverted commas ("....") and there is no change in these words. We may be reporting something that's being said NOW (for example a telephone conversation), or telling someone later about a previous conversation

Examples:

She says "What time will you be home?"
She said "What time will you be home?"
and I said "I don't know!"
"There's a fly in my soup!" screamed Simone.
John said, "There's an elephant outside the window."

Reported Speech

Reported speech is usually used to talk about the past, so we normally change the tense of the words spoken. We use reporting verbs like 'say', 'tell', 'ask', and we may use the word 'that' to introduce the reported words. Inverted commas are not used.

She said, "I saw him." >>> She said that she had seen him.

- a. 'That' may be omitted:
 She told him that she was happy.
 She told him she was happy.
- b. 'Say' and 'tell':

Use 'say' when there is no indirect object: He said that he was tired.

Always use 'tell' when you say who was being spoken to (i.e. with an indirect object):

He told me that he was tired.

'Talk' and 'speak' are used:

- to describe the action of communicating:

He talked to us.

She was speaking on the telephone.

- with 'about' to refer to what was said:

He talked (to us) about his parents.

REPORTED SPEECH

HOPES, INTENTIONS, PROMISES

When we report an intention, hope or promise, we use an appropriate reporting verb followed by a that-clause or a to-infinitive:

"I'll pay you the money tomorrow." He promised to pay me the money the next day. He promised that he would pay me the money the next day.

Other verbs used in this pattern include: hope, propose, threaten, guarantee, swear.

Examples:

- a. "I'll be back by lunchtime."
 He promised to be back by lunchtime.
 He promised that he would be back by lunchtime.
- b. "We should arrive in London before nightfall." They hoped to arrive in London before nightfall. They hoped they would arrive in London before nightfall.
- c. "Give me the keys to the safe or I'll shoot you!"

 He threatened to shoot me if I didn't give him the keys to the safe.

 He threatened that he would shoot me if I didn't give him the keys to the safe.

REPORTED SPEECH

ORDERS, REQUESTS, SUGGESTIONS

1. When we want to report an order or request, we can use a verb like 'tell' with a to-clause.

Examples:

He told me to go away.

The pattern is verb + indirect object + to-clause.

(The indirect object is the person spoken to.)

Other verbs used to report orders and requests in this way are: command, order, warn, ask, advise, invite, beg, teach, forbid.

Examples:

- a. The doctor said to me, "Stop smoking!". ---The doctor told me to stop smoking.
- b. "Get out of the car!" said the policeman. >--- The policeman ordered him to get out of the car.
- c. "Could you please be quiet," she said. >>> She asked me to be quiet.
- d. The man with the gun said to us, "Don't move!" >>> The man with the gun warned us not to move.

(See also section on Verbs followed by infinitive and Verbs followed by gerund)

- 2. Requests for objects are reported using the pattern ask + for + object: Examples:
- a. "Can I have an apple?", she asked. > She asked for an apple.
- b. "Can I have the newspaper, please?" >

He asked for the newspaper.

c. "May I have a glass of water?" he said.

He asked for a glass of water.

d. "Sugar, please." ----

She asked for the sugar.

e. "Could I have three kilos of onions?" >---

He asked for three kilos of onions.

3. Suggestions are usually reported with a that-clause. 'That' and 'should' are optional in these clauses:

She said: "Why don't you get a mechanic to look at the car?" ----- She suggested that I should get a mechanic to look at the car. OR She suggested I get a mechanic to look at the car.

Other reporting verbs used in this way are: insist, recommend, demand, request, propose.

Examples:

- a. "It would be a good idea to see the dentist", said my mother. >--- My mother suggested I see the dentist.
- b. The dentist said, "I think you should use a different toothbrush". ---- The dentist recommended that I should use a different toothbrush.
- c. My manager said, "I think we should examine the budget carefully at this meeting." My manager proposed that we examine the budget carefully at the meeting.
- d. "Why don't you sleep overnight at my house?" she said. > She suggested that I sleep overnight at her house.

Notes:

Suggest can also be followed by a gerund: I suggested postponing the visit to the dentist.

'- ING' FORM

VERBS FOLLOWED BY THE GERUND

The gerund is used after certain verbs.

Example:

miss: I miss living in England.

The most important of these verbs are shown below. Those marked * can also be followed by a that-clause

Example:

VERB	GERUND
She admitted	breaking the window
	THAT-CLAUSE
She admitted	that she had broken the window.
acknowledge,* admit,* anticipate,* appreci avoid, celebrate, consider, contemplatedefer, delay, deny,* detest, dislike, dread, enjoy, entail, escape, excuse, fancy (=imagine), finish, forgive, imagine, involve,	mention,* mind,

Notes:

Appreciate is followed by a possessive adjective and the gerund when the gerund does not refer to the subject. Compare:

I appreciate having some time off work. (I'm having the time...)

I appreciate your giving me some time off work. (You're giving me the time...)

Excuse, forgive, pardon can be followed by an object and the gerund or for + object and the gerund (both common in spoken English), or a possessive adjective + gerund (more formal and less likely to be said): Excuse me interrupting.

Excuse me for interrupting.

Excuse my interrupting.

Suggest can be used in a number of ways, but BE CAREFUL. It is important not to confuse these patterns:

suggest/suggested (+ possessive adjective) + gerund: He suggests going to Glastonbury He suggested going to Glastonbury He suggested/suggests my going to Glastonbury suggest/suggested + that-clause (where both that and should may be omitted):

He suggests that I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested that I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested/suggests I should go to Glastonbury
He suggested/suggests I go to Glastonbury
He suggested I went to Glastonbury.

suggest/suggested + question word + infinitive: He suggested where to go.

Propose is followed by the gerund when it means 'suggest': John proposed going to the debate but by the infinitive when it means 'intend': The Government proposes bringing in new laws.

Stop can be followed by a gerund or infinitive, but there is a change of meaning - see GERUND / INFINITIVE? section.

Dread is followed by the infinitive when used with 'think', in the expression 'I dread to think':

I dread to think what she'll do next.

Prevent is followed

EITHER by a possessive adjective + gerund: You can't prevent my leaving.

OR by an object + from + gerund: You can't prevent me from leaving.

Examples:

- Normally, a mouse wouldn't contemplate marrying an elephant.
- Most mice dread meeting elephants.
- We can't risk getting wet we haven't got any dry clothes.
- If you take that job it will mean getting home late every night.
- I can't imagine living in that big house.
- If you buy some petrol now, it will save you stopping on the way to London.
- She couldn't resist eating the plum she found in the fridge.
- They decided to postpone painting the house until the weather improved.

| A | B | C | D | E | F | G | H | I | J | K | L | M | N | O | P | Q | R | S | T | U | V | W | X | Y | Z |

OUESTIONS

1. Normal word order is used in reported questions, that is, the subject comes before the verb, and it is not necessary to use 'do' or 'did':

> "Where does Peter live?" >>> She asked him where Peter lived.

- 2. Yes / no questions: This type of question is reported by using 'ask' + 'if / whether + clause:
 - a. "Do you speak English?" ------ He asked me if I spoke English.
 - b. "Are you British or American?" ----- He asked me whether I was British or American.
 - c. "Is it raining?" >>> She asked if it was raining.
 - d. "Have you got a computer?" ------ He wanted to know whether I had a computer.
 - e. "Can you type?" >--- She asked if I could type.
 - f. "Did you come by train?" ----- He enquired whether I had come by train.
 - g. "Have you been to Bristol before?" ----- She asked if I had been to Bristol before.

3. Question words:

This type of guestion is reported by using 'ask' (or another verb like 'ask') + question word + clause. The clause contains the question, in normal word order and with the necessary tense change.

Examples:

- a. "What is your name?" he asked me. > He asked me what my name was.
- b. "How old is your mother?", he asked. >--- He asked how old her mother was.
- c. The mouse said to the elephant, "Where do you live?" ----The mouse asked the elephant where she lived.
- d. "What time does the train arrive?" she asked. >>> She asked what time the train arrived.
- e. "When can we have dinner?" she asked. >>> She asked when they could have dinner.
- f. The elephant said to the mouse, "Why are you so small?" The elephant asked the mouse why she was so small.

RELATIVE CLAUSES

NON-DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES

The information in these clauses is not essential. It tells us more about someone or something, but it does not help us to identify them or it. Compare:

- 1. Elephants that love mice are very unusual. (This tells us which elephants we are talking about).
- 2. Elephants, which are large and grey, can sometimes be found in zoos. (This gives us some extra information about elephants we are talking about all elephants, not just one type or group).
- 3. John's mother, who lives in Scotland, has 6 grandchildren. (We know who John's mother is, and he only has one. The important information is the number of grandchildren, but the fact that she lives in Scotland might be followed with the words "by the way" it is additional information).

Punctuation

Non-defining relative clauses are always separated from the rest of the sentence by commas. The commas have a similar function to brackets: My friend John has just written a best-selling novel. (He went to the same school as me) > My friend John, who went to the same school as me, has just written a best-selling novel.

Relative pronouns in non-defining clauses

	Person	Thing	Place
Subject	who	which
Object	who/whom	which	where
Possessive	whose

Notes:

- 1. In non-defining clauses, you cannot use 'that' instead of who, whom or which.
- 2. You cannot leave out the relative pronoun, even when it is the object of the verb in the relative clause:

He gave me the letter, which was in a blue envelope. He gave me the letter, which I read immediately

3. The preposition in these clauses can go at the end of the clause, e.g. This is Stratford-on-Avon, which you have all heard about.

This pattern is often used in spoken English, but in written or formal English you can also put the preposition before the pronoun: e.g. Stratford-on-Avon, about which many people have written is Shakespeare's birthplace.

4. Non-defining clauses can be introduced by expressions like all of, many of + relative pronoun:

	Person	Thing
all of	+ whom	+ which
any of	+ whom	+ which
(a) few of	+ whom	+ which both of	+ whom	+ which
each of	+ whom	+ which
either of	+ whom	+ which
half of	+ whom	+ which
many of	+ whom	+ which
most of	+ whom	+ which
much of	+ whom	+ which
none of	+ whom	+ which
one of	+ whom	+ which
two of etc	+ whom	+ which

Examples:

- a. There were a lot of people at the party, many of whom I had known for years.
- b. He was carrying his belongings, many of which were broken.
- 5. The relative pronoun which at the beginning of a non-defining relative clause, can refer to all the information contained in the previous part of the sentence, rather than to just one word.
- a. Chris did really well in his exams, which was a big surprise. (= the fact that he did well in his exams was a big surprise).
- b. An elephant and a mouse fell in love, which is most unusual. (= the fact that they fell in love is unusual).

Examples:

- a. My grandmother, who is dead now, came from the North of England.
- b. I spoke to Fred, who explained the problem.
- c. The elephant looked at the tree, under which she had often sat.
- d. We stopped at the museum, which we'd never been into.
- e. She's studying maths, which many people hate.
- f. I've just met Susan, whose husband works in London.
- g. He had thousands of books, most of which he had read.

RELATIVE CLAUSE

WHERE TO PUT THE PREPOSTITION IN A RELATIVE CLAUSE

There are often prepositions in relative clauses, and the relative pronoun is the object of the preposition. This means that the preposition can sometimes be omitted.

1. The preposition is normally placed at the end of the relative clause:

Is that the man (who) you arrived with?

Do you know the girl (that) John is talking to?

2. In formal or written English, the preposition is often placed before the relative pronoun, and in this case the pronoun cannot be omitted:

The person with whom he is negotiating is the Chairman of a large company.

It is a society to which many important people belong.

However, this is unusual in spoken English.

Examples:

- The jungle the elephant lived in was full of strange and unusual animals.
- He was very fond of the mouse that he lived with.
- The tree under which they had their home was the largest and oldest in the jungle.
- In the middle of the jungle was a river that all the animals went to every day.
- It was the stream in which the elephant and the mouse preferred to swim.

RELATIVE CLAUSES

DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES

As the name suggests, these clauses give essential information to define or identify the person or thing we are talking about. Obviously, this is only necessary if there is more than one person or thing involved.

Example:

Elephants who marry mice are very unusual. In this sentence we understand that there are many elephants, but it is clear that we are only talking the ones who marry mice.

Punctuation

Commas are not used in defining relative clauses.

Relative pronouns

The following relative pronouns are used in defining relative clauses:

	Person	Thing	Place	Time	Reason
Subject	who/that	which/that			_
Object	who/whom/that/ø	which/that/ø	where	when	why
Possessive	whose	whose

Notes:

1. The relative pronoun stands in place of a noun.

This noun usually appears earlier in the sentence:

The woman	who/that	spoke at the meeting was very knowledgeable.
Noun, subject of main clause	relative pronoun referring to 'the woman', subject of 'spoke'	verb + rest of relative verb + rest of main clause clause

- 2. Who, whom and which can be replaced by that. This is very common in spoken English.
- 3. The relative pronoun can be omitted (a) when it is the object of the clause:

The mouse that the elephant loved was very beautiful. OR The mouse the elephant loved was very beautiful.

Both of these sentences are correct, though the second one is more common in spoken English.

Noun, subject of relative verb + rest of verb + rest of main main clause pronoun, relative clause referring to 'the mouse, object of 'loved' verb + rest of verb + rest of main clause.

(You can usually decide whether a relative pronoun is an object because it is normally followed by another subject + verb.)

4. Whose is used for things as well as for people.

Examples:

The man whose car was stolen. A tree whose leaves have fallen.

5. Whom is very formal and is only used in written English. You can use who/that, or omit the pronoun completely:

The doctor whom/who/that/ø I was hoping to see wasn't on duty.

6. That normally follows words like something, anything, everything, nothing, all, and superlatives.

Examples:

- There's something that you should know.
- It was the best film that I've ever seen.

Examples:

- A clown is someone who makes you laugh.
- An elephant is an animal that lives in hot countries.
- The plums that were in the fridge were delicious. I have eaten them.
- Where are the plums (that) I put in the fridge?
- Has anyone seen the book I was reading?
- Nothing that anyone does can replace my lost bag.
- Let's go to a country where the sun always shines.
- They live in the house whose roof is full of holes.

RELATIVE CLAUSES

See also Pronouns.

There are two different types of relative clause:

- 1. A "defining" or identifying clause, which tells us which person or thing we are talking about.
- 2. A "non-defining" or non-essential clause, which gives us more information about the person or thing we are talking about. This kind of clause could often be information included in brackets (...)

Example:

The farmer (his name was Fred) sold us some potatoes.

The farmer, whose name was Fred, sold us some potatoes.

It is important to see the difference between the two types of clause, as it affects:

- a. the choice of pronoun used to introduce the clause,
- b. the punctuation you must use commas with a non-defining clause.

'- ING' FORM

THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE

The present participle of most verbs has the form base+ing and is used in the following ways:

a. as part of the continuous form of a verb

(See continuous tenses in VERB TENSES)

Example:

I am working, he was singing, they have been walking.

b. after verbs of movement/position in the pattern: verb + present participle

Example:

- She went shopping
- He lay looking up at the clouds
- She came running towards me

This construction is particularly useful with the verb 'to go', as in these common expressions :

to go shopping to go walking to go ski-ing to go swimming to go fishing to go running to go surfing to go dancing

c. after verbs of perception in the pattern: verb + object + present participle

Example:

I heard someone singing. He saw his friend walking along the road. I can smell something burning!

NOTE: There is a difference in meaning when such a sentence contains a zero-infinitive rather than a participle. The infinitive refers to a complete action, but the participle refers to an incomplete action, or part of an action.

Compare:

- I heard Joanna singing (= she had started before I heard her, and probably went on afterwards)
- I heard Joanna sing (= I heard her complete performance)

d. as an adjective

Examples:

amazing, worrying, exciting, boring.

- It was an amazing film.
- It's a bit worrying when the police stop you
- Dark billowing clouds often precede a storm.
- Racing cars can go as fast as 400kph.
- He was trapped inside the burning house.
- Many of his paintings depict the setting sun.

e. with the verbs spend and waste, in the pattern: verb + time/money expression + present participle

Example:

- My boss spends two hours a day travelling to work.
- Don't waste time playing computer games!
- They've spent the whole day shopping.

f. with the verbs catch and find, in the pattern: verb + object + present participle:

With catch, the participle always refers to an action which causes annoyance or anger:

- If I catch you stealing my apples again, there'll be trouble!
- Don't let him catch you reading his letters.

This is not the case with find, which is unemotional:

- We found some money lying on the ground.
- They found their mother sitting in the garden.

g. to replace a sentence or part of a sentence:

When two actions occur at the same time, and are done by the same person or thing, we can use a present participle to describe one of them:

- They went out into the snow. They laughed as they went. ——They went laughing out into the snow.
- He whistled to himself. He walked down the road. Whistling to himself, he walked down the road.

When one action follows very quickly after another done by the same person or thing, we can express the first action with a present participle:

- He put on his coat and left the house. > Putting on his coat, he left the house.
- She dropped the gun and put her hands in the air. > Dropping the gun, she put her hands in the air.

The present participle can be used instead of a phrase starting as, since, because, and it explains the cause or reason for an action:

- Feeling hungry, he went into the kitchen and opened the fridge. (= because he felt hungry...)
- Being poor, he didn't spend much on clothes.
- Knowing that his mother was coming, he cleaned the flat.

'- ING' FORM

INTRODUCTION

The '-ing' form of the verb may be a present participle or a gerund.

The form is identical, the difference is in the function, or the job the word does in the sentence.

The present participle:

This is most commonly used:

- as part of the continuous form of a verb, he is painting; she has been waiting
- after verbs of movement/position in the pattern: verb + present participle, She sat looking at the sea
- after verbs of perception in the pattern:
 verb + object + present participle,
 We saw him swimming
- as an adjective, e.g. amazing, worrying, exciting, boring

The gerund:

This always has the same function as a noun (although it looks like a verb), so it can be used:

- as the subject of the sentence: Eating people is wrong.
- after prepositions:
 Can you sneeze without opening your mouth?
 She is good at painting
- after certain verbs,
 e.g. like, hate, admit, imagine
- in compound nouns,
 e.g. a driving lesson, a swimming pool, bird-watching, trainspotting

NOUNS

THE PLURAL OF NOUNS

Most nouns form the plural by adding -s or -es.

Singular	Plural
boat	boats
hat	hats
house	houses
river	rivers

A noun ending in -y preceded by a consonant makes the plural with -ies.

Singular	Plural
a cry	cries
a fly	flies
a nappy	nappies
а рорру	poppies
a city	cities
a lady	ladies
a baby	babies

There are some irregular formations for noun plurals. Some of the most common ones are listed below.

Examples of irregular plurals:

Singular	Plural
woman	women
man	men
child	children
tooth	teeth
foot	feet
person	people
leaf	leaves
half	halves
knife	knives
wife	wives
life	lives
loaf	loaves
potato	potatoes

cactus	cacti
focus	foci
fungus	fungi
nucleus	nuclei
syllabus	syllabi/syllabuses
analysis	analyses
diagnosis	diagnoses
oasis	oases
thesis	theses
crisis	crises
phenomenon	phenomena
criterion	criteria
datum	data

Some nouns have the same form in the singular and the plural.

Examples:

Singular	Plural
sheep	sheep
fish	fish
species	species
aircraft	aircraft

Some nouns have a plural form but take a singular verb.

Examples:

```
news - The news is on at 6.30 p.m.

athletics - Athletics is good for young people.

linguistics - Linguistics is the study of language.

darts - Darts is a popular game in England.

billiards - Billiards is played all over the world.

Some nouns have a plural form and take a plural verb.

Examples:

```
trousers → My trousers are too tight.

jeans → Her jeans are black.

glasses → Those glasses are his.

others include:

savings, thanks, steps, stair, customs, congratulations, tropics, wages, spectacles, outskirts, goods, wits

THE PASSIVE VOICE

PASSIVE, FORM

The passive voice in English is composed of two elements: the appropriate form of the verb 'to be' + the past participle of the verb in question:

Subject	verb 'to be'	past participle
The house	was	built

Example: to clean

Subject	verb 'to be'	past participle
Simple present:
The house	is	cleaned every day.
Present continuou	ıs:
The house	is being	cleaned at the moment.
Simple past:
The house	was	cleaned yesterday.
Past continuous:
The house	was being	cleaned last week.
Present perfect:
The house	has been	cleaned since you left.
Past perfect:
The house	had been	cleaned before their arrival.
Future:
The house	will be	cleaned next week.
Future continuous:
The house	will be being	cleaned tomorrow.
Present conditional:
The house	would be	cleaned if they had visitors.
Past conditional:
The house	would have been	cleaned if it had been dirty.

NOTE: 'to be born' is a passive form and is most commonly used in the past tense:

I was born in 1976. When were you born?

BUT: Around 100 babies are born in this hospital every week.

Infinitive form: infinitive of 'to be' + past participle: (to) be cleaned

This form is used after modal verbs and other verbs normally followed by an infinitive, e.g.

You have to be tested on your English grammar John might be promoted next year. She wants to be invited to the party.

Gerund or -ing form: being + past participle: being cleaned

This form is used after prepositions and verbs normally followed by a gerund

Examples:

- a. Most film stars hate being interviewed.
- b. I remember being taught to drive.
- c. The children are excited about being taken to the zoo.

NOTE: Sometimes the passive is formed using the verb to get instead of the verb to be:

- a. He got arrested for dangerous driving.
- b. They're getting married later this year.
- c. I'm not sure how the window got broken.

THE PASSIVE VOICE

PASSIVE, FUNCTION

The passive voice is used to show interest in the person or object that experiences an action rather than the person or object that performs the action, e.g.

- The passive is used ...:
 We are interested in the passive, not who uses it.
- The house was built in 1654:
 We are interested in the house, not the builder.
- The road is being repaired:
 We are interested in the road, not the people repairing it.

In other words, the most important thing or person becomes the subject of the sentence.

Sometimes we use the passive voice because we don't know or cannot express who or what performed the action:

- I noticed that a window had been left open
- Every year people are killed on our roads.

If we want to say who or what performs the action, we use the preposition by:

- "A Hard Day's Night" was written by the Beatles
- ET was directed by Spielberg

The passive voice is often used in formal or scientific texts:

- A great deal of meaning is conveyed by a few well-chosen words.
- Our planet is wrapped in a mass of gases.
- Waste materials are disposed of in a variety of ways.

THE PASSIVE VOICE

GET / HAVE SOMETHING DONE

This construction is passive in meaning. It may describe situations where we want someone else to do something for us.

Examples:

- a. I must get / have my hair cut.
- b. When are you going to get that window mended?
- c. We're having the house painted.

If the verb refers to something negative or unwanted, it has the same meaning as a passive sentence:

- d. Jim had his car stolen last night. (= Jim's car was stolen)
- e. They had their roof blown off in the storm. (= Their roof was blown off in the storm)

The construction can refer to the completion of an activity, especially if a time expression is used:

- f. We'll get the work done as soon as possible.
- g. I'll get those letters typed before lunchtime.

In all these sentences, we are more interested in the result of the activity than in the person or object that performs the activity.

'X' NEEDS DOING

In the same way, this construction has a passive meaning. The important thing in our minds is the person or thing that will experience the action, e.g.

- a. The ceiling needs painting (= the ceiling needs to be painted)
- b. My hair needs cutting (= my hair needs to be cut)

THE PASSIVE VOICE

PASSIVE TENSES AND ACTIVE EQUIVALENTS

Notice that the tense of the verb to be in the passive voice is the same as the tense of the main verb in the active voice.

Example: to keep

TENSE / VERB FORM	ACTIVE VOICE	PASSIVE VOICE
Simple present	keeps	is kept
Present continuous	is keeping	is being kept
Simple past	kept	was kept
Past continuous	was keeping	was being kept
Present perfect	have kept	have been kept
Past perfect	had kept	had been kept future	will keep	will be kept
Conditional present	would keep	would be kept
Conditional past	would have kept	would have been kept present infinitive	to keep	to be kept perfect infinitive	to have kept	to have been kept present participle/gerund	keeping	being kept perfect participle	having kept	having been kept

Example sentences:

Active: I keep the butter in the fridge. Passive: The butter is kept in the fridge.

Active: They stole the painting. Passive: The painting was stolen.

Active: They are repairing the road. Passive: The road is being repaired.

Active: Shakespeare wrote Hamlet.

Passive: Hamlet was written by Shakespeare.

Active: A dog bit him.

Passive: He was bitten by a dog.

NOUNS

COMPOUND NOUNS

Formation

Words can be combined to form compound nouns. These are very common, and new combinations are invented almost daily. They normally have two parts. The second part identifies the object or person in question (man, friend, tank, table, room). The first part tells us what kind of object or person it is, or what its purpose is (police, boy, water, dining, bed):

What type / what purpose	What or who police	man
boy	friend
water	tank
dining	table
bed	room

The two parts may be written in a number of ways:

1. as one word.

Example: policeman, boyfriend

2. as two words joined with a hyphen.

Example: dining-table

3. as two separate words. Example: fish tank.

There are no clear rules about this - so write the common compounds that you know well as one word, and the others as two words.

The two parts may be:	Examples:
noun + noun	bedroom water tank motorcycle printer cartridge
noun + verb	rainfall haircut train-spotting
noun + adverb	hanger-on passer-by
verb + noun	washing machine driving licence swimming pool

verb + adverb*	lookout take-off drawback
adjective + noun	greenhouse software redhead
adjective + verb	dry-cleaning public speaking adverb + noun	onlooker bystander
adverb + verb*	output overthrow upturn input

Compound nouns often have a meaning that is different from the two separate words.

Stress is important in pronunciation, as it distinguishes between a compound noun (e.g. greenhouse) and an adjective with a noun (e.g. green house).

In compound nouns, the stress usually falls on the first syllable:

- a 'greenhouse = place where we grow plants (compound noun)
- a green 'house = house painted green (adjective and noun)
- a 'bluebird = type of bird (compound noun)
- a blue 'bird = any bird with blue feathers (adjective and noun)
- * Many common compound nouns are formed from phrasal verbs (verb + adverb or adverb + verb).

Examples: breakdown, outbreak, outcome, cutback, drive-in, drop-out, feedback, flyover, hold-up, hangover, outlay, outlet, inlet, makeup, output, set-back, stand-in, takeaway, walkover.

NOUNS

Nouns answer the questions "What is it?" and "Who is it?" They give names to things, people and qualities.

Examples: dog, bicycle, man, girl, beauty, truth, world.

NOUN GENDER

In general there is no distinction between masculine, feminine and neuter in English nouns. However, gender is sometimes shown by different forms or different words.

Examples:

Different words:

Masculine	Feminine
man	woman
father	mother
uncle	aunt boy	girl
husband	wife

Different forms:

Masculine	Feminine
actor	actress
prince	princess
hero	heroine
waiter	waitress
widower	widow

Some nouns can be used for either a masculine or a feminine subject:

Examples:

cousin	teenager	teacher	doctor
cook	student	parent	friend
relation	colleague	partner	leader

- Mary is a doctor. She is a doctor
- Peter is a doctor. He is a doctor.
- Arthur is my cousin. He is my cousin.
- Jane is my cousin. She is my cousin.

It is possible to make the distinction by adding the words 'male' or 'female'.

Example: a female student; a male cousin

For professions, we can add the word 'woman'

Example: a woman doctor; a woman journalist.

In some cases nouns describing things are given gender.

Examples:

- I love my car. She (the car) is my greatest passion.
- France is popular with her (France's) neighbours at the moment.
- I travelled from England to New York on the Queen Elizabeth, she (the Queen Elizabeth) is a great ship.

'- ING' FORM

THE GERUND

This looks exactly the same as a present participle, and for this reason it is now common to call both forms 'the -ing form'. However it is useful to understand the difference between the two. The gerund always has the same function as a noun (although it looks like a verb), so it can be used:

a. as the subject of the sentence:

- Eating people is wrong.
- Hunting elephants is dangerous.
- Flying makes me nervous.

b. as the complement of the verb 'to be':

- One of his duties is attending meetings.
- The hardest thing about learning English is understanding the gerund.
- One of life's pleasures is having breakfast in bed.

c. after prepositions. The gerund must be used when a verb comes after a preposition:

- Can you sneeze without opening your mouth?
- She is good at painting.
- They're keen on windsurfing.
- She avoided him by walking on the opposite side of the road.
- We arrived in Madrid after driving all night.
- My father decided against postponing his trip to Hungary.

This is also true of certain expressions ending in a preposition, e.g. in spite of, there's no point in..:

- There's no point in waiting.
- In spite of missing the train, we arrived on time.

d. after a number of 'phrasal verbs' which are composed of a verb + preposition/adverb

Example:

to look forward to, to give up, to be for/against, to take to, to put off, to keep on:

- I look forward to hearing from you soon. (at the end of a letter)
- When are you going to give up smoking?
- She always puts off going to the dentist.
- He kept on asking for money.

NOTE: There are some phrasal verbs and other expressions that include the word 'to' as a preposition, not as part of a to-infinitive: - to look forward to, to take to, to be accustomed to, to be used to. It is important to recognise that 'to' is a preposition in these cases, as it must be followed by a gerund:

- We are looking forward to seeing you.
- I am used to waiting for buses.
- She didn't really take to studying English.

It is possible to check whether 'to' is a preposition or part of a to-infinitive: if you can put a noun or the pronoun 'it' after it, then it is a preposition and must be followed by a gerund:

- I am accustomed to it (the cold).
- I am accustomed to being cold.

e. in compound nouns

Example:

• a driving lesson, a swimming pool, bird-watching, train-spotting

It is clear that the meaning is that of a noun, not of a continuous verb.

Example:

• the pool is not swimming, it is a pool for swimming in.

f. after the expressions:

can't help, can't stand, it's no use/good, and the adjective worth:

- The elephant couldn't help falling in love with the mouse.
- I can't stand being stuck in traffic jams.
- It's no use/good trying to escape.
- It might be worth phoning the station to check the time of the train.

'- ING' FORM

GERUND OR INFINITIVE?

B. Verbs where there is a clear difference in meaning:

Verbs marked with an asterisk* can also be followed by a that-clause.

come	mean*	stop
forget*	regret*	try
go on	remember*

NOTES:

Come:

Come + gerund is like other verbs of movement followed by the gerund, and means that the subject is doing something as they move:

• She came running across the field.

Come + to-infinitive means that something happens or develops, perhaps outside the subject's control:

- At first I thought he was crazy, but I've come to appreciate his sense of humour.
- How did you come to be outside the wrong house?
- This word has come to mean something quite different.

Forget, regret and remember:

When these verbs are followed by a gerund, the gerund refers to an action that happened earlier:

- I remember locking the door (= I remember now, I locked the door earlier)
- He regretted speaking so rudely. (= he regretted at some time in the past, he had spoken rudely at some earlier time in the past.)

Forget is frequently used with 'never' in the simple future form:

• I'll never forget meeting the Queen.

When these verbs are followed by a to-infinitive, the infinitive refers to an action happening at the same time, or later:

• I remembered to lock the door (= I thought about it,

- then I did it.)
- Don't forget to buy some eggs! (= Please think about it and then do it.)
- We regret to announce the late arrival of the 12.45 from Paddington. (= We feel sorry before we tell you this bad news.)

Go on:

Go on + gerund means to continue with an action:

- He went on speaking for two hours.
- I can't go on working like this I'm exhausted.

Go on + to-infinitive means to do the next action, which is often the next stage in a process:

- After introducing her proposal, she went on to explain the benefits for the company.
- John Smith worked in local government for five years, then went on to become a Member of Parliament.

Mean:

Mean + gerund expresses what the result of an action will be, or what will be necessary:

- If you take that job in London it will mean travelling for two hours every day.
- We could take the ferry to France, but that will mean spending a night in a hotel.

Mean + to-infinitive expresses an intention or a plan:

- Did you mean to dial this number?
- I mean to finish this job by the end of the week!
- Sorry I didn't mean to hurt you.

Stop:

Stop + gerund means to finish an action in progress:

 I stopped working for them because the wages were so low.
 Stop tickling me!

Stop + to-infinitive means to interrupt an activity in order to do something else, so the infinitive is used to express a purpose:

- I stopped to have lunch. (= I was working, or travelling, and I interrupted what I was doing in order to eat.)
- It's difficult to concentrate on what you are doing if you have to stop to answer the phone every five minutes.

Try + gerund means to experiment with an action that might be a solution to your problem.

- If you have problems sleeping, you could try doing some yoga before you go to bed, or you could try drinking some warm milk.
- 'I can't get in touch with Carl.' 'Have you tried e-mailing him?'

Try + to-infinitive means to make an effort to do something. It may be something very difficult or even impossible:

- The surgeons tried to save his life but he died on the operating table.
- We'll try to phone at 6 o'clock, but it might be hard to find a public telephone.
- Elephants and mice have to try to live together in harmony.

ABOUT ANTHONY HUGHES Author of the Online English Grammar

Anthony Hughes has been involved in education for the past twenty years. He spent his formative years in Australia and attended the Universities of Sydney (B.A.), New England (M.Litt) and the University of New South Wales (Cert. TESOL)

After receiving a Masters in English Literature and Language he went on to teach English in several countries including Australia, Switzerland and France. While in Switzerland he wrote and directed a six part audio-visual course for English language learners and was the director of the international education fair 'Mondolingua'.

In 1995 he moved to Bristol in the UK and formed the Digital Education Network Ltd with David Blackie.

The Digital Education Network (DEN) is now a world leader in the provision of educational information on the Internet and counts amongst its clients many of the world's top educational organisations.

Charged with the development of the DEN websites and content and with the development of educational websites for clients around the world, he has become an expert in the development and design of high-end, database driven and interactive sites for education. Along with the technical expertise he has developed content in the form of the Online English Grammar which currently attracts over 180,000 monthly user sessions on DEN and of interactive games in the DEN test centre. He is currently working on a number of multimedia and DV video based projects for primary and secondary schools as well as a series on the use of English.

In 1999 he formed ZEP Media Ltd to provide an online educational software shop and resource centre for schools and to act as a 'laboratory' for the development of educational applications using the new technologies.

Apart from his business activities he has contributed articles and photographs to a number of magazines, written a screenplay on the life of Friedrich Nietzsche and maintains a strong interest in the development of creative learning applications using the new technologies.

WHICH ENGLISH?

Trash or Rubbish? - Sorting out our English

Colour or color? Socks or sox? Organisations or Organizations? Underground or subway? Gas or petrol? Fall or Autumn? Candy or sweets? Cookie or biscuit? Centre or Center, Trash or rubbish?

I often get emails from users berating me for my terrible spelling. While I admit to a few glaring typos from time to time the emails are often concerned with spellings that have more to do with geography than with poor literacy skills.

Just to confuse the issue a little more, I was born in England, went to Australia when I was five, was entirely educated in Australia, spent several years in the USA and Canada and then ten years in France, and now live in England married to a Colombian wife where the common language at home is French, where my wife speaks Spanish to the children, I speak English to them and they spend undue amounts of time listening to American TV shows like Sesame Street, Buffy the Vampire Killer and the Simpsons or listening to American rappers, English Spice Girls or, when forced, heroes from the seventies such as Van Morrison and James Taylor. And they suck vocabulary, expressions, idioms and grammar out of all of this and plonk it into their own English. In my home, as in many others around the world, English isn't something that you can pin down as you would a prize butterfly and say 'There it is! That is English'.

There is no longer, if there ever was, a standard English to which all speakers should pay homage. Now we recognise as legitimate variations American English, Australian English, British English, Indian English, there is even a variety called Singlish from Singapore. You only have to have used an electronic spell checker to know that you can select from some of these English varieties when correcting your spelling in a word processor.

Although it is true that we have a wonderfully rich global mapping of English which makes it possible for English speakers to almost immediately fix a fellow English speaker to a geographical area, it is also true that there is more that is similar among these English varieties than is dissimilar. If there wasn't, English speakers from different parts of the world would have absolutely no hope of understanding each other! In most cases it is pronunciation and not usage, vocabulary or grammar that makes a fellow English speaker from another part of the world, or sometimes even another part of the country, difficult to understand.

In the Online English Grammar I try to remain open to the international and evolving character of English and, at the risk of falling into the sea, try to keep one foot each in British and American English - if I had more feet I would attempt to cover some of the other main English variations as well, but a shortage of feet is one of the many drawbacks of being a lowly biped. What this means is that I try to point out grammatical rules that may vary slightly depending on where you are, the same with spelling. As far as spelling goes for the actual explanations and examples I tend to use the Australian/British spellings. For example I use 'organisation' rather than 'organization' and 'colour' rather than 'color' and prefer 'program' to 'programme'. Australia has always had the great advantage of being able to choose to follow the American or British ways or invent things for itself. However, if you look under the bonnet of these pages you will see that we are forced to use American English in the HTML which we use to code the pages - 'colour' is always 'color' and 'centre', 'center' there!

The important thing to remember is that while spelling 'remember' as 'rember' is definately wrong, spelling 'socks' as 'sox' is not! That saying 'She speak English really well' is definately wrong (the verb 'speak' must be third person 'speaks' or used in another tense such as 'spoke'), saying 'She speaks English real well' may not be wrong (it is acceptable to use 'real' rather than 'really' in informal American English.)

When visualising English always think of it as a writhing, many-headed, sensual, changing and wonderful creature and not some dry, changeless, inanimate measuring stick.

That should avoid the urge to condemn other people's use of English before carefully thinking about what they have said and where they come from - perhaps they are even contributing something new, unique and colourful to the language.

This may also slow the flow of emails arriving in my in-tray from angry users who think it is a disgrace that I consistently spell 'center' as 'centre' - am I dyslexic?
